

Senate Group For Extending Trade Powers

Committee Accepts Plan Without Making Changes VOTE IS 12 TO 8

Measure to Come Up Next Week for Action in Upper House

Washington—(P)—The senate rejected today a new effort to kill off legislation expanding the political prohibitions of the Hatch act to cover state employees paid in whole or part with federal funds.

It turned down, 49 to 27, an amendment which Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) frankly told the chamber was designed to "destroy" the pending bill offered by Senator Hatch (D-N.M.).

Washington—(P)—The senate finance committee voted 12 to 8 today to approve, without amendment, the house-approved legislation to continue the administration's trade agreements program three years beyond next June 12.

The committee's approval cleared the way for senate consideration next week of the controversial measure to renew the state department's expiring authority to make trade pacts in which tariff concessions would be extended not only to the nation signing the agreement but to all others not discriminating against American exports.

This is one of two key issues immediately before congress. The other is whether to add a quarter-billion dollars to farm funds.

The finance committee rejected six amendments, many of which some senators said would have "scuttled" the program. Chief of these was one by Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) to require senate ratification of all future agreements. Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) said the vote was 11 to 9 against this proposal.

Committee's Vote

The vote to approve the legislation and send it to the floor for debate follows:

For the bill: Senators Harrison, George of Georgia, Walsh of Massachusetts, Barkley of Kentucky, Connally of Texas, Bailey of North Carolina, Clark of Missouri, Byrd of Virginia, Guffey of Pennsylvania, Burton of Michigan, Herring of Iowa and Hachtel of Maryland, all Democrats.

Against the bill: Senators Gerry of Rhode Island and Johnson of Colorado, Democrats; LaFollette, Progressive, Wisconsin, and Capper of Kansas, Vandenberg of Michigan, Townsend of Delaware, Davis of Pennsylvania and Lodge of Massachusetts, Republicans; King, Democrat, Utah, was absent.

Senator Connally voted "aye" on the Pittman amendment, making the only change from the roll call on the final vote of approval.

The house went into recess today but activity in the senate included appropriations committee approval of a $2,768,021 deficiency appropriation bill. The total included $60,000,000 for soil conservation funds. A like amount is to be deducted from soil conservation funds to be available later.

The bill's total was $2,698,882 greater than that voted by the house.

On the senate floor, Senator Pepper (D-La.) opposed extension of Hatch bill restrictions against political activity to state and local government employees paid in part with federal funds.

Pepper said the proposal imperiled states' rights. He tied his argument to an assertion that the justice department investigation of Louisiana corruption interfered with the rights of a sovereign state.

Before debate of the controversial Hatch anti-politics bill was resumed on the senate floor, the finance committee gathered to vote on the extension of the trade agreements act.

Farm Fund Demands

Vying for congressional attention with action on this major recommendation of Mr. Roosevelt was a rising clamor for a big increase in the farm payments he proposed.

The house trimmed the president's budget estimates for the agriculture department from $788,929,519 to $713,696,084. But farm state senators talked of a billion-dollar bill through additions of from $200,000 to $300,000,000.

The appropriations subcommittee in charge of the annual agricultural supply bill scheduled final action on this economy versus spending milestone today, with sentiment apparently in favor of the increase.

Administration leaders agreed that, if the subcommittee and then the full appropriations committee whip the farm bill into shape during the weekend, they would lay aside the trade agreement investigation in the senate Monday to consider it.

This understanding was reached on legislation to extend to state employees, paid in whole or part with federal funds, the prohibitions against certain political activities placed on federal workers by the Hatch act.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.), author of the legislation, said he had heard of the bill.

Ask 55 Neutrals To Help Improve Economic Order

Hull Says Most Replies Favor Cooperative Effort After War

Washington—(P)—Secretary Hull said today 55 neutral nations had been approached by the American government with a view to working toward a better world economic order in the days after the European war.

Most of them have sent in replies, he added, and most of the replies favor the cooperative effort.

Hull's conversations with the neutrals are designed to reach a common ground, prior to the end of the war, on which a better economic order and disarmament can be built internationally after the war.

The secretary of state said he knew nothing of any soundings from European nations to the United States to obtain this government's mediation of the Russo-Finnish war.

In reply to a question, Hull said he had no information that Sumner Welles undersecretary of state, would see Pope Pius XII in Rome next week before sailing for the United States.

Paris—(P)—President Roosevelt's one-man fact-finding commission, Sumner Welles, continued to tap the French official war attitude today in a whirlwind series of talks with government leaders.

In immediate succession, he was received by Jules Jeanneney, president of the senate, Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber of deputies and former Premier Leon Blum, chief of the socialist party.

With Jeanneney and Herriot the busy emissary was clocked 45 and 50 minutes respectively.

McCrea Suspended By Michigan Chief

Dickinson Charges He 'Hindered the Administration of Justice'

Detroit—(P)—Governor Luren D. Dickinson today suspended Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county (Detroit) prosecutor, who has been indicted on gambling conspiracy charges.

The governor accused the prosecutor, whose preliminary hearing on the indictment now is in progress, of "embarrassing and hindering the administration of justice" in Wayne county.

Formal ouster proceedings already have been ordered against McCrea by Governor Dickinson.

Today's executive order, effective immediately, empowers State Attorney General Thomas Read "to assume full charge of the office of prosecuting attorney of Wayne county," until determination of the ouster proceedings.

McCrea, at his arraignment on the conspiracy indictment before Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, who has been sitting as a one-man grand jury investigating gambling and allegations of police connivance, has asserted his right to appear as prosecutor as well as defendant.

At yesterday's session of arraignment, John Sidick, who identified himself as a former partner in a $1,000,000-a-year baseball lottery, testified that since 1935 "the law" had been paid $57,000 a year out of the lottery profits.

C. I. O. Auto Workers to Convene at St. Louis

Chicago—(P)—The executive board of the United Automobile Workers of America C. I. O. voted today to hold the union's 1940 convention in St. Louis starting July 29.

The board has been in session this week considering plans for the union's campaign in the national labor relations board collective bargaining election for employees of the General Motors company to be held next month.

Youth Held on Suspicion of Plot to Kidnap Judy Garland; Accomplice Is Being Sought

Hollywood—(P)—A curiously bungled plot to kidnap Judy Garland, 17-year-old singing star of the films left a 19-year-old transient from Buffalo, N. Y., in jail today.

Officers said Norman Wilson planned, with an accomplice, the midnight abduction, then grew panicky and telephoned police that "Judy Garland will be kidnaped tonight"—the warning which led to his own arrest.

He was booked tentatively on a charge of suspicion of kidnapping. A search for his companion was under way.

Carlton Grover Armstrong said Wilson told him after watching the actress' $40,000 Bel-Air home for two days and learning that the servants would be off duty Thursday night he and a friend decided to meet at midnight and break into the house. Becoming frightened, Wilson telephoned police from a Santa Monica hotel.

Youth Arrested

Police traced the call, and a hotel employee gave such an accurate description of Wilson that the youth was arrested, a block away.

Meanwhile reporters, photographers and 16 policemen had descended upon the Garland home where Judy and her sister, Virginia, in the absence of their mother and step-father, were entertaining six young friends.

"I've never been threatened before," Judy told them calmly. "I'm sure everything will be all right—just make yourselves at home."

While her young guests resumed their dancing and games Judy shared out ice cream to the visitors.

The party ended when Judy's mother, Mrs. Ethel Gumm Gilmore, returned and young Wilson's arrest was disclosed.

Tenant Farmer Kills Wife, Step-Daughter And Then Slays Self

Uniontown, Pa.—(P)—A jealous young tenant farmer stabbed and beat his wife and 15-year-old step-daughter to death early today in the barnyard of their farm at Spillway Lake and then fatally shot himself, District Attorney Vance Cotton reported.

Cotton identified the dead as Charles John Blastic, 36, his wife, Mary Blastic, 34, and the latter's daughter, Florence, child by a previous marriage.

Blastic left a crudely worded note accusing his wife of giving her attentions to other men and of misleading the daughter in "the same way," the district attorney said.

The body of the girl, slashed at the throat and abdomen, was found in a wash house. Nearby lay the body of the mother, whose head was battered by a blow from the butt end of a shotgun. The father, a bullet hole in his head, was found near a barn.

Naval Experts Try to Learn Secret of Anti-Mine Cable Encircling British Liner

New York—(P)—The mystery of the anti-mine cable girdle which encircles the Queen Elizabeth and which may be Great Britain's answer to magnetic mines intrigued naval experts today.

The Cunard White Star line, owner of the $28,750,000, 85,000-ton vessel, the world's newest and largest, made it clear that the device is an admiralty secret.

Line officials would admit nothing except that it is called the "electrical De Gausse" and is named after the Swedish scientist who pioneered its design.

Captain J. C. Townley, who brought the huge liner through a historic dash to a safe berth yesterday alongside two other "war refugees"—the Cunard's Queen Mary and the French liner Normandie—would not discuss the device except to say, "I've known about it only five days."

Asked whether it prevented the explosion of any mines, he commented dryly, "You never know whether you've passed over a mine unless it goes off."

Magnetic mines have been sown in British coastal waters by German submarines at moderate speed.

5 are Guilty Of Conspiracy To 'Fix' Cases

2 Former U. S. Assistant Attorneys Among Group in Chicago

BONDS CONTINUED

Lawyer, Bondsman and Convicted Bootlegger Other Defendants

Chicago—(P)—Two former assistant United States attorneys and three co-defendants were convicted today in federal court of conspiracy to "fix" bootlegging cases.

The defendants were Daniel D. Glasser and Norman I. Kretzke, former assistants in the federal prosecutor's office here; Attorney Alfred E. Roth, Anthony Horton, Negro professional bondsman, and Louis Kaplan, a convicted bootlegger.

A jury in Federal Judge Patrick Shorty's court returned the verdict shortly before 8 o'clock a. m. today after having received the case at 3:30 p. m. yesterday.

The government charged that Glasser and Kretzke obtained the actual "fixing" of the bootlegging cases by means of dismissals or grand jury no-bills; that Roth, attorney for defendants in liquor cases, was in league with them, and that Horton and Kaplan acted as go-betweens.

Judge Stone Presides

The indictment, returned Sept. 29, 1939, carried the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government by the "fixes." The trial began Feb. 6 before a jury of six women and six men and Federal Judge Stone was called in from Madison, Wis., to hear the case because of the defendant's acquaintance with the Chicago judiciary.

Government witnesses testified about numerous involved deals depicting Glasser and Kretzke as being on the receiving end, directly or indirectly of bribes for "taking care" of cases, with Roth, Kaplan or Horton handling the negotiations.

Glasser and Kretzke denied from the witness stand that they "fixed" cases and Glasser said he once turned down a $10,000-bribe. Three federal judges, Michael L. Igoe, John P. Barnes and Charles E. Woodward, testified for the defense, picturing Glasser and Kretzke as "lawyer-like" prosecutors who "did their job" in the courtroom.

April 8 was set for a hearing on motion for a new trial and the defendants' bond of $1,500 each was continued.

Confesses Theft Of Library Books

Former Instructor Says He Doesn't 'Know Why I Took Them'

Cleveland—(P)—A soft-spoken, former college instructor, held for theft of library books which police valued at $10,000, declared today "I don't know why I took them exactly."

"Probably I need treatment from a psychiatrist," said Orville Marsh 52. "I knew it was wrong to steal but when I saw expensive books in the library the desire to possess them got the better of me."

"I have been oppressed by poverty ever since I worked my way through Harvard university. I wanted books and I could never afford them. They have found some books which have been missing since 1925."

Marsh helped a Cleveland library representative determine the branches from which nearly 100 books were taken. Some 700 other volumes from libraries in Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, New York and other cities were recovered. Detective Peter Mervio said Mervio added Marsh could be charged only with petty larceny because the books—almost all technical—disappeared one or two at a time.

Marsh was an instructor in business administration for 13 years, at Akron university and later at Cleveland college. For a time, he said he was an assistant instructor at the University of Chicago, where he took his master's degree.

Fairbanks Launches Northland's Annual 4-Day Ice Carnival

Fairbanks, Alaska—(P)—Miner and trapper, Canadian and American, white and native, thronged Fairbanks today for the northland's biggest party—the annual four-day ice carnival.

Visitors who came to the "golden heart of Alaska" by airplane, dog team and railway, cut loose in snow-clad Fairbanks for 96 hours of fun and frolic. It was a case of "a hot time in the old town" at temperatures ranging downward to zero.

Fur parkas of trappers and dog team mushers, bright colors of modern sportswear and sober business clothes mingled in the streets as Fairbanks became the territory's winter capital.

Three were Canadians from Dawson, famed Yukon territory mining center, who came by plane; 200 visitors from Anchorage and way points on the Alaskan railroad who came by train; and other groups from Juneau, Cordova and settlements along the vast sweeps of the Yukon river.

Three features headline the celebration—the ice carnival, dog races, and all-Alaska beauty contest.

Finns Expected to Reject Red Terms For Ending Strife

No Signs of Peace Move Are Evident in Moscow

PRESS IS SILENT

Allies Promise Continued Aid to Finns; No Request to U. S.

Moscow—(P)—Evidences of Russian readiness to make peace with the Finnish government at Helsinki were lacking today in Moscow.

The press did not mention the reports circulating throughout the world of Russian terms presented to the Finns. No information concerning any peace negotiations was available in authoritative quarters. Officials were noncommittal.

The Komsomolskaya Pravda, organ of the Soviet youth movement, gave prominence to an article declaring that "the days of the Mannerheim-Tanner regime are counted."

The article, reprinted from the organ of the "Finnish people's government" established with Moscow's recognition at Terijoki, in Russian-occupied Finland, said Helsinki was "doomed by the heroism and might of the red army and the failure of foreign states to fulfill their promises of extensive aid" to Finland. It was signed by Otto Kuusinen, head of the Terijoki regime.

"It is time for the soldiers and citizens of Finland to decide whether it is worth while to spill more blood for Mannerheim and Tanner," it said. "The Finnish people want to live in peace."

PROMISE HELP

Paris—(P)—Britain and France, who already have sent considerable aid to Finland, are ready to continue their assistance if the Helsinki government decides to fight "to the bitter end," sources close to the French foreign office said today.

Commenting on Swedish efforts to negotiate peace between Finland and Russia, these sources declared, "Finland has the possibility of taking the road which Sweden has invited her to explore, or of appealing to the allied powers to increase their action. France and Britain, who have carried out the Geneva decisions in favor of Finland, are ready to continue their effort to safeguard the independence of that nation."

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt said today the United States government had received no request for mediation in the Russo-Finnish war.

Beyond saying that, however, the chief executive declined to discuss European reports that mediation efforts of this government might be sought.

The president told his press conference that such matters were of a nature that could not be discussed even if negotiations of that kind were being held.

To another inquiry whether Undersecretary Welles was participating in any Russo-Finnish negotiations, the chief executive remarked there was nothing to be said on that.

Four Cases Dropped: Defendants Already Serving Long Terms

Milwaukee—(P)—Federal Judge F. Ryan Duffy dismissed local indictments today against four men, including two bank robbers and a slayer, when informed they already were serving long penitentiary sentences on other charges.

Those against whom indictments were dropped.

Wilbur Cook, charged here with being a fugitive from justice, who now is serving seven to fourteen years at Waupun on a charge of slaying a John Smith, eccentric woodsman, with a baseball bat near Lily, Wis., on May 30, 1939.

George Slade and James Groves, alias John Gardner, charged here with robbing the Belgium, Wis., branch of the Post Washington State bank of $1,587 on Aug. 3, 1936, and of robbing the Stockbridge, Wis. State bank of $1,570 a month later. Slade and Groves, found guilty of other bank robberies, are serving respective terms of 26 and 15 years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kans.

Carl Jordan, charged locally on two counts of stealing from the mails in November and December, 1938, who now is serving 5 years to life at San Quentin on a charge of robbery.

Judge Duffy summoned the federal pet's jury to meet March 25 to hear civil and criminal cases.

Flood Control Bill to Come Up This Session

Washington—(P)—Chairman Whittington (D-Miss.) of the house floor control committee said after a White House conference today that he hoped to report out this session a general flood control measure authorizing expenditure of between $150,000,000 and $175,000,000.

Whittington would not say what the president thought about the proposal.

POET DIES

New York—(P)—Edwin Markham, the poet who rose to fame on "The Man With the Hoe" died last night of pneumonia at the age of 87. The painting of the same name by Jean Francois Millet served as Markham's inspiration for "The Man With the Hoe." He wrote it, a stanza a day, in 1896, then set it aside for 13 years before casually sending it to the editor of a San Francisco newspaper. It was an immediate success, was reprinted widely and translated into 40 languages.

Helsinki—(P)—Finnish rejection of a reported Soviet peace-with-victory ultimatum appeared almost certain today as Finn gunners defending the headlands of Viipuri bay blasted at their foe on the fields of ice in perhaps the bloodiest fighting of the war.

The government disclosed receipt of word that a Russian peace proposal was planned, but well-informed persons said it already had been made, with even heavier assaults predicated upon refusal. Copenhagen reports said the Russians set midnight tonight as the deadline.

At least the general nature of the Russian offer was believed to be known to the Finnish government, with rejection inevitable if demands exceeded those made before the war started Nov. 30. Reports from Stockholm and Copenhagen indicated they did exceed the old ones.

British Treasury Votes Huge Credit For War Purposes

German Raids on Shipping Bring Demands For Retaliation

London—(P)—The air ministry announced tonight that British warplanes had bombed three German vessels near the naval base of Borkum and a German naval auxiliary vessel near the Island of Sylt. The communiqué did not say whether the planes scored hits.

Day and night German air-raids on shipping roused Britons today to demand retaliation while the treasury issued a £700,000,000 (about $2,800,000,000) vote of credit as a sort of blank check for the coming year's war expenses.

The air ministry announced that new reconnaissance flights were made last night over Germany and for the first time over former Polish territory, but some parliamentary figures and the press voiced scorn for such pamphlet-dropping excursions.

Chinese Jubilant Regarding Loan

Japanese Spokesmen Critical of Action at Washington

Shanghai—(P)—Chinese officials in Chungking were jubilant and Japanese spokesmen were outspokenly critical when informed that the United States federal loan administrator, Jesse H. Jones, had announced a $20,000,000 loan to China to finance imports of American products.

A Japanese embassy spokesman said that "Japan cannot consider the loan as a friendly act," but discounted suggestions that it might bring anti-American retaliation in Japan or Japanese-occupied parts of China.

Washington—(P)—Secretary Hull today characterized the $20,000,000 credit advanced by the United States to China as a transaction in furtherance of commercial policy.

His comment was in response to a statement by a Japanese foreign office spokesman that Japan could not consider the loan as a friendly act.

Hull said the proposed loan was simply a transaction in furtherance of commercial policy which includes some financing by the export-import bank to various countries from time to time.

Martial Law May be Extended in Holland

The Hague—(P)—A royal decree extending martial law to the "greater part of the Netherlands" is in preparation, it was announced today.

The minister of defense, Lieutenant-Colonel A. Q. Hukdijhoorn, made the announcement in the upper chamber in answer to questions as to what steps the government was taking in view of the "dangers of espionage."

"If necessary the government will not hesitate to proclaim martial law for the entire country," the minister declared. He did not indicate when the royal decree would become effective.

Bitter Fighting Continues in Viipuri Bay Area

HOPES GROWING Germany and Sweden Seen as Possible Intermediaries

Berlin—(P)—Per Evind Svinhufvud, 79-year-old former president of Finland, arrived by plane today and immediately entered the office of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, accompanied by the Swedish minister to Berlin, Arvid Richert.

Diplomatic circles believed that the governments of Finland and Sweden would make an appeal to Adolf Hitler to intercede with Russia for terms on which a Russian-Finnish peace might be negotiated.

These circles believed the emissaries would represent to Hitler that such mediation on his part is the only means of averting intervention of the western powers in the struggle.

Helsinki—(P)—Finnish rejection of a reported Soviet peace-with-victory ultimatum appeared almost certain today as Finn gunners defending the headlands of Viipuri bay blasted at their foe on the fields of ice in perhaps the bloodiest fighting of the war.

The government disclosed receipt of word that a Russian peace proposal was planned, but well-informed persons said it already had been made, with even heavier assaults predicated upon refusal. Copenhagen reports said the Russians set midnight tonight as the deadline.

At least the general nature of the Russian offer was believed to be known to the Finnish government, with rejection inevitable if demands exceeded those made before the war started Nov. 30. Reports from Stockholm and Copenhagen indicated they did exceed the old ones.

The pre-war demands called for a trade of some islands in the Gulf of Finland, a Russian naval base at Hanko, in southwestern Finland, cession of part of the Karelian isthmus to Russia bordering revision in the Arctic and demilitarization of the frontier. In return, Finland was offered a portion of Soviet Karelia north of Lake Ladoga.

(The Scandinavian reports said the new demands required that Finland surrender all the Karelian isthmus, the city of Viipuri, Lake Ladoga, the port and peninsula of Hanko, and part of the Petsamo district on the Arctic ocean.)

More significant than the terms, in the opinion of Finns, was the fact that Russia was reported willing to make a settlement at all. Previously the Kremlin had declined to recognize the Finnish government.

Informed Moscow observers saw scant possibility for peace at present. Copenhagen reports said the negotiations centered in Stockholm, but the Swedish capital censored messages and telephone calls relating to the subject.)

Parallel with the talks of peace efforts, the struggle against the Russian invaders pursued its bitter course, with the Finns reporting that red army attempts to encircle Viipuri in long-range from 60 miles west were beaten back.

Success for the Finns all along the Karelian isthmus front from the ice-bound coast south and southwest of Viipuri to Lake Ladoga on the eastern front was reported by the high command.

In the island-dotted vicinity of Viipuri the army said its forces destroyed several tanks "and at least eight guns of batteries brought by the enemy onto the ice."

East of the seaport, the bodies of 400 Russians killed in Wednesday's fighting were left in front of the Finnish lines and the Finns said Russians lost seven tanks and two armored cars yesterday.

The army estimated 2,000 Russian dead were left on the field after an attack at Kollaanjoki, northeast of Lake Ladoga, on the eastern front, while elsewhere there was minor activity and local attacks "which were repelled."

Naval and coastal defense forces joined in warding off the attempts of the Russians to cross the ice-in.

Full Report on Census Case Sent to Capital

Milwaukee—(P)—E. J. Koelzer, assistant United States attorney, announced today that he had sent to Washington a full report on the case of James Roselli. Kenosha cobbler accused of failing to give complete answers to a census taker.

De-pite an order from the census bureau to Donald Farris, manager of the census area which included Kenosha, for withdrawal of the federal warrant issued against Roselli, Koelzer has refused to drop the case until so instructed by department of justice officials.

Koelzer took the position that since a warrant was issued, dismissal of the case is a matter for determination by the department of justice, not the census bureau.

Suit Over Land Deal to Continue, Judge Graass Says

Won't be Dropped Despite Settlement Accepted By Forest County

Green Bay.—(P)—A special prosecutor must continue to seek $30,000 damages for Forest county in a suit over a land deal, Circuit Judge Henry Graass has ruled, although the Forest county board has voted to accept a settlement of $1 and to ask dismissal of the suit.

The judge, however, yesterday dismissed the suit as to two of the defendants, Albert J. Hess, former Forest county supervisor, and his wife, Dora.

It was explained that the dismissal was due to a legal provision that prosecution apply only to bonded officers.

Counsel for the remaining defendants—Lester A. Carter, former Forest county treasurer; Leo Samz, former Forest county clerk, and the Massachusetts Bonding and Indemnity company—announced that they would ask the state supreme court for a writ of mandamus to compel Judge Graass to dismiss the suit against the other defendants.

Appointment Valid
Judge Graass found that the appointment of A. B. Fontaine, Green Bay attorney, as special prosecutor was valid because the Forest county prosecutor was disqualified by reason of his having advised the defendants and acted on a committee which sold the land in question to the individual defendants.

The judge further ruled that prosecution of the suit to a judgment is a duty of the chairman of the county board, and that any move by the county board to settle must follow completion of this duty.

Forest county instituted the civil suit last fall, alleging a conspiracy in the sale of county tax title lands to individuals, who resold it to the federal government for forestry purposes. Hess and Carter were acquitted of criminal charges.

Then, on Feb. 20, the Forest county board adopted a resolution asking dismissal of the suit and accepting $1 in settlement. The defense based a move for dismissal on this resolution.

Johns Leads Move for Algoma Harbor Report

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington.—At the insistence of Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Algoma, Republican, the house committee on rivers and harbors has asked for a report on Algoma harbor to determine whether or not the existing project should be "changed."

Johns has demanded that stone be blasted out of the harbor to make it possible to unload coal. Heavy coal barges displace so much water that the harbor isn't sufficiently deep to accommodate them at the present time, he says.

The investigation has been assigned to the district engineer of army engineers at Milwaukee, but it is probable that hearings will be held at Algoma before any action is taken.

Special appropriations would be needed for the proposed Algoma harbor project, as the $15,500 appropriated by the house for the harbor for the coming fiscal year would be used only for maintenance.

138,631 Loans to Badger Farmers, Barkley Reveals

Over 169 Million Reported Advanced Since May 1, 1933

Washington.—(P)—Efforts under the New Deal farm program to improve agricultural conditions are summarized in a memorandum which shows that $169,737,543 was advanced in 138,631 Wisconsin loans by farm credit administration from May 1, 1933, to last Dec. 31.

The figures for individual states were inserted in the Congressional Record by Senator Barkley (D-Ky.). His memorandum said the Wisconsin FCA figures included federal land bank, land bank commission, production credit association, crop relief loans, and drought-relief loans.

Michigan was listed for $4,632 loans amounting to $87,629,910 and Minnesota for 177,659 loans totaling $218,051,257.

Under another part of the program, rural rehabilitation loans through farm security administration aggregated $8,063,125 for 34,635 families in Wisconsin besides $3,705,617 in grants to 49,204 families.

Michigan Loans
Michigan loans to 12,788 families totaled $5,888,452 and grants $540,827 to 5,227 families while in Minnesota the rehabilitation loans to 38,855 families totaled $9,015,221 and grants to 29,957 families totaled $2,306,653.

Listed in addition were tenant purchase loans under FSA totaling $498,555 to 64 borrowers in Wisconsin compared with $433,006 for 61 borrowers in Michigan and $992,039 for 118 borrowers in Minnesota.

Another table listed 150,742 Wisconsin farmers participating in the agricultural conservation program in 1938 and said on last Dec. 31, there were 303,585 acres on 1,973 agreements under five-year conservation service.

The Barkley memorandum also testified that there were 3,097 Wisconsin acres covered by crop insurance policies last Feb. 1.

It said the Badger State by last June 30 had received rural electrification administration allotments totaling $12,566,800.

TUGS MANEUVER 'QUEEN ELIZABETH' INTO DOCK

The New York harbor was more than ever a "maritime Klondike" as the "Queen Elizabeth," Britain's largest and newest luxury liner, still uncompleted, made her way safely up the North river after a spectacular dash across the north Atlantic from her Clyde-side building place. Tugs are shown here pushing the vessel up to her dock. Directly behind the Queen Elizabeth is her sister ship, the Queen Mary. To the right is the Normandie, pride of the French merchant fleet. All are of more than 80,000 tons.

reports that an attempt might be made to delay action on his bill until it could be shunted aside next week.

"Unless there is a filibuster, I think we will pass this soon," he told reporters, adding an opinion that opponents had "exhausted their strength" in previous unsuccessful efforts to amend the bill.

By a vote of 42 to 35 yesterday, and of 44 to 41 Wednesday, the senate refused to abolish the ban on political activity by government workers.

House In Recession
The house, hearing passed the $118,781,187 interior department appropriations bill yesterday after cutting $3,479,277 from budget estimates took a weekend recess.

In the senate finance committee voting on the trade pact bill, an amendment by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) to require that the agreements by approved by both houses was defeated, 12 to 8.

The committee rejected, 13 to 7, a proposal by LaFollette to set up an export-import control board having powers to license exports and imports to prevent discrimination against American trade abroad.

Senators Johnson, Capper, Vandenberg, Townsend, Davis and Lodge joined LaFollette in supporting this proposal.

The same group also voted for—and lost—a proposal by LaFollette to give the secretaries of agriculture and commerce equal authority with the secretary of state in approving trade agreements.

An amendment by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) to prevent any alteration of excess taxes on coal, oil, lumber and copper in the agreements met defeat, 12 to 8. The committee rejected by a voice vote a proposal by McCarran to limit tariff concessions to the difference between foreign and domestic production costs.

Allies Would Suffer Serious Setback if Finns Should Bow To Russia's Terms for Peace

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York.—(P)—Sweden's part in the Russo-Finnish "peace" talk strikes me as an anxious effort to escape the pressure which comes on one hand from the growing tendency of the Anglo-French allies to intervene in the conflict, and on the other from German threats of reprisals for abandonment of neutrality.

Allies intervention certainly would drag unwilling Sweden and Norway into the upheaval, against both the Reds and Germany—an eventually which the two neutrals have been trying desperately to avoid.

This sudden development probably runs counter to allied projects for rescuing the Finns and at the same time opening up a new northern front against Herr Hitler.

If successful, the peace-bid will greatly alter the course of the European crisis.

Indeed, should the Finns be compelled to accept a conqueror's terms, thereby giving Russia and Germany control of northern Europe, it obviously would represent a serious setback to the allies.

Not only would it deprive England and France of an opportunity to strike at Hitler from the north, but it would make available to the nazis the Russian supplies which now are flowing into the Finnish invasion.

Such an outcome also would tend to swing the Balkans back toward Germany.

Tough On Finland
There are indications, however, that Sweden is acting with the acquiescence of England and France, perhaps forsooth because the two powers had no feasible alternative. And perhaps because they feel that the Finns are likely to reject the terms and that a favorable solution may develop ultimately for the allied cause.

Unconfirmed reports of Bolshevik terms make it look tough for little Finland.

The Muscovites are said to be demanding surrender of the Karelian isthmus across which runs the now-famous Mannerheim line, great Lake Ladoga, the strategic railway center of Viipuri, the powerful naval port of Hanko in southeastern Finland, the entire peninsula upon which Hanko stands, and a slice of territory by Finland's Arctic port of Petsamo.

Unless the Finns are utterly despondent of getting outside help in resisting the red invasion, they aren't likely to accept any such program.

These terms would place Finland absolutely under the domination of the Bolsheviks, so much so that she would virtually be a protectorate.

Would Give Reds Control
Further, such sweeping terms would give Russia control of the whole northern wing of the Baltic sea, so that the red wave of communism would be pounding the shores of Sweden—something of which the Swedes have lived in constant dread in view of this one wonders whether the terms as reported are correct.

The background of the present situation is this: Ever since the red invasion of Finland, Sweden and Norway have maintained neutrality under threats of reprisals from Germany. The nazi hand has rested particularly heavy on Sweden, from which Herr Hitler is getting big supplies of iron ore which he needs so badly for prosecution of the war.

The hearts of the two Scandinavian countries have been wholly with Finland, and they have permitted considerable aid to be sent to the hard-pressed Finns. Fear of an attack by Germany, however, has impelled Stockholm to refuse the Anglo-French allies permission to send organized bodies of troops through Sweden to the aid of Finland. This has been the only feasible route.

The allies have tried unavailingly to persuade the neutrals, including Sweden and Norway, to join them. Despite the impediments there have been many indications that England and France were persisting with the idea of getting organized aid to the Finns. Norway and Sweden have been increasingly fearful that their neutrality would be involved.

Now we get the peace move.

Factionalism Is Not Dead Within Democratic Party

Shooting Over the New Hatch Bill Indicates Differences

BY W. B. RAGSDALE
Washington.—(P)—The shooting over the new Hatch bill is a sharp reminder that factionalism is not dead within the Democratic party; it scarcely has died.

For, if the roots of the Hatch bill be followed back far enough, they reach inevitably down into the pungent odors of the 1938 primary campaign and find nurture in the less-than-sweet words that Democrats said about other Democrats then.

The first Hatch bill originated as an amendment offered by the Democratic senator from New Mexico to a WPA bill prior to the 1938 campaign. It was rejected. Subsequently, all sorts of charges were aired by a senate investigating committee involving efforts to sway the WPA vote in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and elsewhere.

With the evidence before him, Vice President Garner quietly threw his influence behind the bill. Already, he saw the shadows of 1938 being projected into the primaries of 1940, when a presidential nomination would be at stake. Often in the past, nominating conventions of the party in power have been referred to as job-holders' conventions.

The bill to restrict sharply the campaign activities of federal employees went through the senate without a squawk. Then the heat was thrown upon the house to kill it. Representative Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic leader, after several senators from the ultra-New Deal wing of the party had demanded that he stop it, told them forcefully that he refused to be put in the position of voting for corrupt political practices.

Once through the house, it went back to the senate for agreement to certain minor changes. Senator Chavez (D-N. M.), Hatch's colleague, made a speech against it. Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) shied away from it. Senator Minton (D-Ind.) arose with the apparent intention of objecting, changed his mind in the middle of his speech and sat down.

Then the heat went on the White House in an effort to get President Roosevelt to veto it. He signed. Already, he has indicated that he favored the new Hatch bill, which would extend the ban to cover the employees of state and local agencies who get a part of their money from the federal government.

Appleton Included on Tentative Dewey Route

Chicago.—(P)—Wisconsin Republicans backing Thomas E. Dewey for the party's presidential nomination announced after a conference with the New York district attorney here yesterday that the date for his forthcoming visit to Wisconsin had not been decided.

Campaign managers said Dewey probably would come to Wisconsin about the time of his March 28 Chicago speech.

His tentative itinerary would include Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Two Rivers, Kewaunee, Green Bay, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

Safety Conscious America Is Goal

Browne Talks on Highway Precautions Before Legion Post

Fremont.—The purpose of safety campaigns is to call the attention of the people to the "dangers lurking on the highways and to create in them a 'safety consciousness,'" Attorney Tom A. Browne, secretary-treasurer of the Waupaca Safety Council, told members of the Wolf River post of the American Legion here last night.

"The American people must stop encouraging the mania for speed," Browne said. "We must hammer on the lesson of safety and not the lust for speed."

The safety council officer said that night driving is especially dangerous, particularly in relation to the pedestrian problem, and that studies made by states and the National Safety council show that the average driving speed at night is only slightly below that of daylight.

"People who have studied this question in 1934 that 40 miles an hour for night driving is the proper speed for anyone to drive."

Browne said that in a recent Chicago test, two cars were sent out on an 8-mile run over a route heavily congested with traffic. One car was given instructions to disregard speed, traffic and courtesy rules and get to its destination as quickly as possible. The other was to be driven at a safe speed and in conformity with laws. The car which ignored traffic rules was only two minutes ahead of the other over the same route.

Alan H. Tripp addressed the post on "The Lincoln Plan To End Our Depression."

Civil Liberties Are Involved in Labor Act Issues

Board's Record One of Brusque Indifference to Fair Play—Lawrence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—The issues involved in the amendments just submitted to the house by its investigating committee headed by Representative Howard Smith of Virginia, independent Democrat, go to the heart of the American system of civil liberties. Should these amendments fail, by obstruction or otherwise to become law, the American people will have the opportunity at the polls next November to decide whether they want to retain in power members of Congress who are willing to surrender civil liberties.

The essence of civil liberties is that every citizen shall have a fair trial and that, in any offense against the law of the land, he shall not be tried by a tribunal which is itself judge, jury and prosecutor. Surprisingly enough, there are New Dealers in the house calling themselves "liberals" who not only agree with the reactionary doctrine that a single board of three, who shall continue to act as judge, jury and prosecutor, but they actually have taken a stand against any revision of the law which changes the membership of the present board or checks its dictatorial powers.

The record which the committee, headed by Representative Smith, has gathered in the last two months is in black and white. It is an amazing tale of governmental misuse of power well documented by the board's own files. If the New Dealers wish to defend that record before the American people, it will give the coming national campaign the finest opportunity for the expression of a moral revulsion that the country has had in a long time.

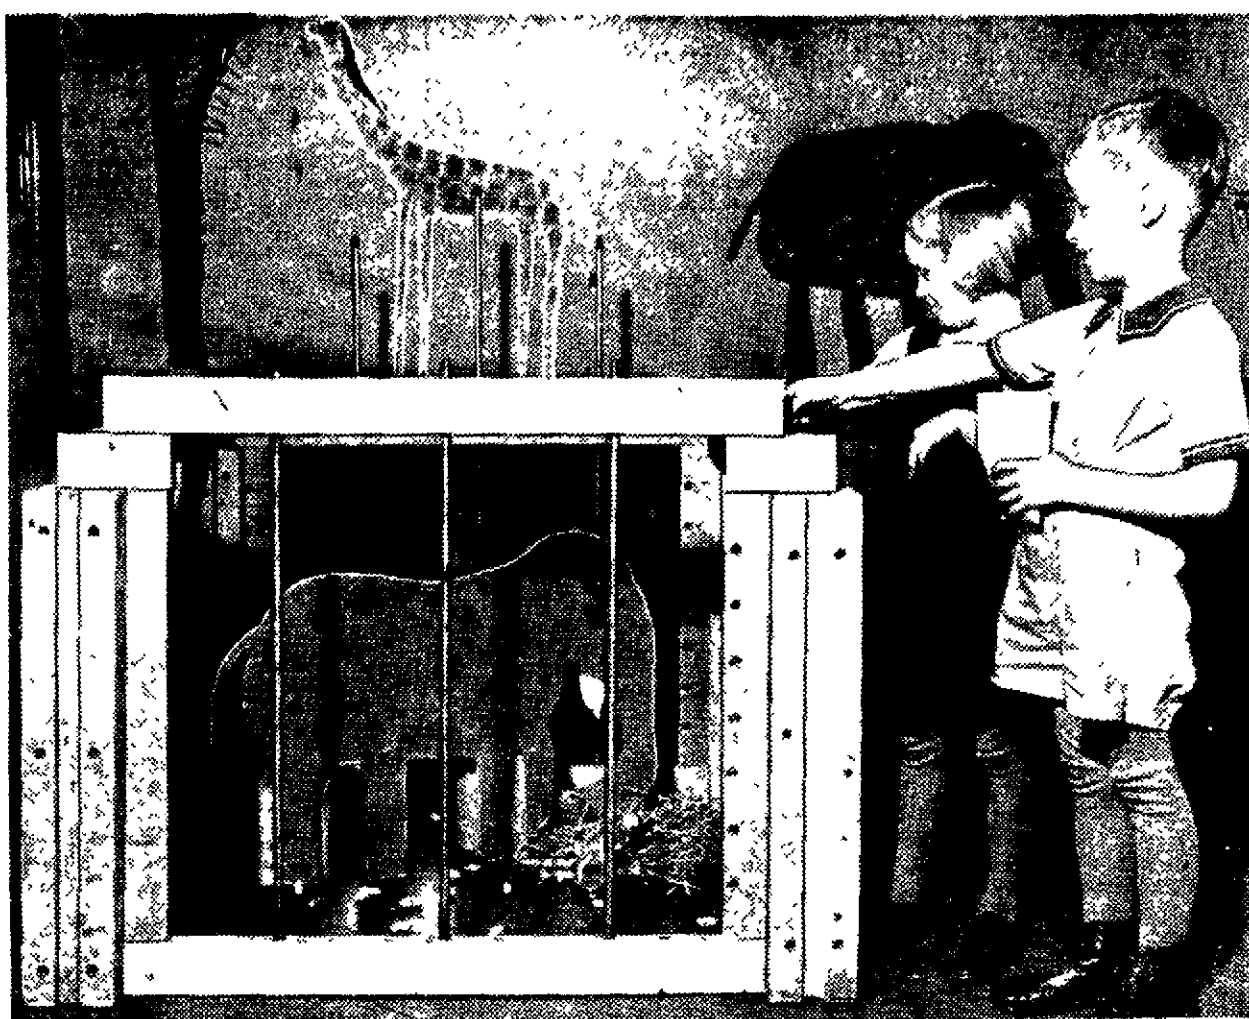

The board's record as revealed in recent hearings is one of brusque indifference to the rules of fairness. Not only has the board violated the rules of fair play, but it has actually violated the laws of the land itself and escaped thus far any criminal prosecution by the department of justice. Yet there are members in the house, who wish to go before the people as defending such a record.

Bitter Warfare

The explanation may be found in the bitter warfare between the CIO and the A. F. of L. The New Deal members who are supporting the board and opposing amendments to the Wagner act come from districts where the CIO threatens them with defeat if they dare to vote in favor of the proposed amendments.

The CIO has been preparing for this battle a long time and has been going back to the districts to line up its pressure group. Indeed, there are many observers who think that John L. Lewis made his attack recently on President Roosevelt principally because he wanted to bludgeon the president into inaction with respect to amendments to the Wagner law.

The course of Mr. Lewis is understandable because the CIO benefits

YOUNGSTERS "FEED" WASHINGTON KINDERGARTEN JUMBO

Feeding peanuts to the elephant is a lot of fun even if Jumbo is artificial according to pupils of the Washington school kindergarten. The "zoo" was built by the pupils and includes monkeys, the elephant, giraffe and lion, all in cages constructed in the kindergarten. The animals were made of paper and wood and painted by the youngsters. In the picture are Charlotte Rammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rammer, 40 Sherman place, and Donald Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Potter, 1012 W. Elsie street. Teachers are Miss Lucille Fitzsimmons, Miss Elizabeth Lindsay and Miss Alice Neuwirth. (Post-Crescent Photo)

now by the prejudices of the board and the vagueness of the law. Page after page of the record of the Smith committee shows that the CIO virtually controls the policies of the board. Why should Mr. Lewis want the board changed when it still is the principal ally of the CIO?

The A. F. of L., on the other hand has always been powerful in the legislative halls of congress. Will it ask its millions of members to vote for persons in congress who pose as "friends" of labor and yet permit a board to remain in office which is in collusion with the CIO? Probably not.

As for the president, he is in a tight spot. The CIO has maneuvered him into it by stiffening the resistance of the group in congress which wishes no changes made. There is reason to believe the president, however, really wants some changes in the Wagner law. His failure to give his assent on Thursday to the amendments proposed by Representative Smith—an incident that prevented a unanimous agreement of the Smith committee and compelled a 3 to 2 report—does not necessarily mean that he will withhold approval of a bill that reaches him for signature after the necessary concessions, compromises and adjustments are made in the legislation.

through various states in the house and senate.

May Divide Party

The issue is one in which the Republicans are deeply interested, but it will also divide the Democratic party. A coalition of truly liberal and independent Democrats plus the Republican vote will put through the house the proposed amendments of Representative Smith, and the same kind of a coalition will arise in the senate.

The controversy may overshadow all else in this session and, of course, will get into the campaign. The New Deal has been accused again and again of phoney liberalism, but the charges against its appointees has never been proved until the operations of the labor board were revealed in full view. There is no evidence yet that the New Deal finally will stand sponsor for that record. But if the administration stands pat, the issue will be an easy one to make on the stump against any representative or senator who seeks reelection this year. All the opposing candidates will have to do is to read from the record and thus can arouse among the voters such indignation that the Republicans could gain control in the house. Sufficient Republican votes could be won in the senate on this issue alone so that, together with the independent Democrats, congress would slip entirely away from New Deal control.

Many of the Republican leaders are secretly hoping that the administration will play stupid politics and seek to defend the labor board and alienate itself with the CIO. On such an issue the Republicans feel the vote next autumn for congress would be decisively in their favor.

It had been thought that this session of congress would be a monotonous affair, but the attitude of the New Deal members who want to defend the labor board's erratic behavior has contributed liveliness to an otherwise uninteresting session and furnished perhaps the basic issue of the coming campaign—civil liberties versus the tyranny of delegated power exercised by bureaus and boards that boldly amend the law without the consent of congress.

Be A Careful Driver

Johnson Scoffs at Threat to Discipline Carolina Editor

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

Georgetown, S. C. — In Charleston, S. C., they have a newspaper called the News and Courier which is an unreconstructed rebel so far as the usurpation of the Democratic party by extreme New Dealers is concerned. It calls the present leadership the "Harlem Democracy." It criticizes increased debt and taxes and it can't see much benefit that the south has derived from Mr. Wallace's ruin of its export cotton markets.

Of course, it is a Democratic paper—old line—but the local political organization from the mayor down is New Deal. In the various federal handouts, South Carolina got a hydroelectric project on the Santee river—the Santee-Cooper development. The Santee-Cooper authority existing partly under state and partly under federal authority, has had its head offices in Charleston. There is a considerable amount of patronage in connection therewith—many jobs.

The News and Courier thinks the whole organization is shot through with politics, waste and inefficiency and has continued to say so in language that anybody can understand and often enough for everybody to hear.

Recently the Santee-Cooper authority decided to move its office to Columbia, the state capital. There is some doubt as to why this decision was made. The newspaper claims that it was so intended by the state law and quotes officials of the authority to that effect. But the local political pundits point to the fact that it wasn't done before, doesn't have to be done now, and insist that it is a reprisal for the "hostility of the Charleston press" toward the whole New Deal.

Some of them even go further and say if this criticism isn't toned down, Charleston is going to lose its great federal navy yard which it has had for generations—and maybe some of its fortifications.

This seems ridiculous so far as any such intent in Washington is concerned. In the first place, it would have to be done by congress and over Senator Byrne's dead body. He is a power in the senate. In the second place, South Carolina glued down in the Democratic bag anyway—and the people imagine a vain thing. Finally, no administration would so tamper with national defense at a time like this, no matter how great the political provocation. But locally the politicians are putting on a novel scheme to channel or control the well-known freedom of the press. They are trying in organized effort to excite business men to bring pressure on the editor, Dr. Ball, to write his not opinions on some other subject than the New Deal and especially the Santee-Cooper project.

It is no new thing for partisan advertisers to take their business away from papers whose editorial policy doesn't suit the political purpose, but this usually is done quietly, or at least without such a parade as is going on in this case where the demand is loud, strong and frequent.

I don't know of any evidence of advertisers falling before this pressure. Dr. Ball is a Charleston institution. Everybody knows that there is about as much likelihood of his shutting up on this issue as there is of Fort Sumter floating out to sea.

These gents aren't doing their own New Deal cause any good. It is true that it would take much more than this to turn South Carolina Republican but they ought not to forget that theirs was the original

Buys 70-Acre Farm in Town of Grand Chute

Arthur C. Hopfensperger has purchased a 70-acre farm in the town of Grand Chute from Philomena Boyce. The real estate transfer has been filed at the office of Stephen M. Peeters, Outagamie county registrar of deeds. The following transfers also have been filed: August Sauer to Arthur E. Luedtke, a lot in the town of Grand Chute. Anion H. Polman to William M. VanToll, part of a lot in Combined Locks.

Efficiency experts of a transcontinental airline estimate the company saves $20 a year for each pound it eliminates from the weight of its equipment.

secess state. It doesn't sit quietly under abuse. If the pretended threat of a New Deal discipline of the Charleston press were not so clearly ridiculous it would be a real issue. Other South Carolina papers, including the Columbia State, have protested—some with a good deal of heat.

Guild Selection Among New Books at New London Library

New London — The Literary Guild selection for this month, "An Old Captivity" by Nevil Shute, is among the new books made available at the New London Public Library this week. It is the story of an aviator out of work who takes an archeologist to Greenland for an aerial survey of ancient ruins. It is a story of physical and spiritual adventure, and of a spoiled girl who learned to value courage and strength more than social pleasantness.

In "Portrait of Jennie," Robert Nathan has written a story whose implications reach to horizons beyond the experience of ordinary workaday life. To discourage a student, Eben Adams loses the friendship of Jennie, a friendship which leads him to a mastery and success.

Head of the Class—and fit to be Tried!

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 Buick to claim your attention — that is, if you really want to know what's what in motorcars.

For instance, you've got to admit that its style has done a lot to brighten up and beautify the boulevards.

And, from the way folks are swinging over to Buick, it must have something value-wise that's important for you to measure.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

So do the rave notices Buick Coil Springing gets and the talk you hear about five-foot front seat room in the Super.

and its Foamtex cushions soft as a down puff.

But skipping this—even skipping the fact that Buick's prices are lower than some sixes—there's one thing that alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer.

That's the obvious fact that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

It set this year's pace last year—and right now it is plainly the car others will be like "some day."

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveler.

Even if you don't discover that Buick is an immediate "must," you'll decide you'll never be really happy till you have one.

AND WHAT OF PEACE

The statement from Rome that peace written after this war is fought out to a finish could never be lasting is straight and practical. Even if the victor could be found to write honorable terms it is doubtful whether any great people forced to eat the bitter fruit of defeat would be content to accept results without future attempts at reprisal.

The time to write a peace is now. Those who pretend to be so greatly concerned about the rights of little nations should be able to see that the war to date has drawn into its deadly vortex the most innocent of the little nations, Finland, and spilled more Finnish blood than that of any other except its attacker.

All of Scandinavia is in peril. So are Holland and Belgium. So are Switzerland and the Balkans.

Herr Hitler has spoken, it is reported, of a German Monroe Doctrine. This sounds reasonable but is subject to great misuses. Were Germany a democracy like America its preaching of such a doctrine to protect small states from the despoiler could be accepted much more quickly. But Germany's attitude toward neighboring people is that of conquest and domination. Were she to apply the Monroe Doctrine she would now be kicking Russia out of Poland and Finland instead of making Moscow's way easy.

It has heretofore been accepted that one nation cannot concern herself with the internal affairs of another. Thus we say it is no business of ours whether Russia is under a tyrant's thumb or whether Chili is ruled by a despot. But it is likely to become clear that an exception is needed to the old rule and that nations bent upon peace and democracy are vitally interested in the sort of government set up in other nations when those other nations are powerful enough to upset world affairs and their form of government demands first the enslaving of their own masses.

Poland, Bohemia and Finland must not be permitted to distract our attention from the most important factor that has to do with world peace. Gibraltar, Malta and the Suez may belong to Britain or Italy with less of a material chance in world affairs than the question of the form of government in such countries.

For democracy, with all its faults and blunders, its mountebank politicians and flannel-mouthed soapbox orators, is still today the greatest single foe that war ever had. True it is that Bohemia grabbed from Poland when the latter was attacked by Russia in 1920; and true it is that Poland could grab too when a neighboring republic became ill; but these are only ripples on the ocean of time, the exceptions that prove and demonstrate the rule. Finland wouldn't be covered with blood today if the people of Russia had a right to speak.

And so we come to the natural conclusion that the great nations of the world are crucially interested in the form of government prevailing in each, and particularly whether one or a few men may command armies to march and thus unloosen the Four Horsemen to ride in terror along otherwise peaceful countryside.

But it would be useless to try to set up democracy in any country after it had been beaten, stripped and humiliated. Nor can democracy stand on its own legs where the people are ignorant, illiterate and quick-tempered. For, above everything else, democracy demands judgment and patience.

All these needs and complexities are bound to make enduring peace difficult but they indicate the direction in which the world must march.

TOWARD BEAUTIFYING HIGHWAYS

Over in central Wisconsin during the last few years farmers and local governments have been carrying forward an idea which hasn't received as much recognition and support elsewhere as it deserves.

In Waushara county and in several others adjacent to it, highway committees have demonstrated the efficacy of a project which has the dual advantage of beautifying the highways and the landscape and lowering highway maintenance costs. They have planted living tree belts, not only to prevent soil erosion, but to form snow traps in winter.

Doubtless the picket snow fence, which has become a standard piece of highway equipment for state roads and some county highways, will continue to be a necessary and useful part of highway maintenance.

ance equipment. However, it needs replacement, for its durability is not great, its cost is high, it takes money to erect each year and to take down each spring, and it surely adds nothing to the appearance of the landscape.

Now the men in central Wisconsin have shown that living tree belts are serving just as effectively, and possibly better, more attractively, and economically.

An encouraging part of the demonstrations there has been the cooperative attitude of the farmers who own the land near the highways. They have generally been willing to give long-time easements to town and county for the planting of the snow fences, realizing that such plantings serve as shelter belts to prevent the drifting and blowing of sandy soils in drought summers.

With free planting stock furnished by the state conservation department, there is no reason why other county and town officers, and the state too, should not follow the example of Adams, Waushara, Portage and other central Wisconsin counties and plant living trees to do the job of the expensive and ugly red picket fences.

A DISTINGUISHED SMEAR

About 9 months ago Judge Manton of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals was found guilty by a jury of a series of corrupt acts in relation to the cases submitted to him for decision.

On appeal from the trial court his conviction was unanimously upheld by a specially constituted Circuit Court. The other day his appeal to the Supreme Court was rejected by that tribunal.

His sentence to pay a fine of $10,000 and suffer imprisonment of 2 years cannot therefore be longer jockeyed with.

But the lightness of this sentence, although the maximum under the law, and the enormity of his crime should not be permitted to pass unchallenged. The evidence showed the judge profited to the tune of several hundred thousand dollars. His is the ignominy of being the first federal judge in the history of the Republic to be convicted of crime.

While Manton is of such years that his expectancy of life is not considerable further indictments in respect to additional corruption that was exposed after the trial got under way should follow. It demands no involved argument to sustain the statement that the penalty already inflicted is preposterously insufficient, and that a democracy needs to retain its pride by punishing those who strike at its heart with something more than a feather duster.

Manton had a brilliant mind in the retention and application of legal principles but it was a dull, blunt and blind mind in some particulars. In his appeal to the Supreme Court he asked that court to erase the jury's verdict to save the judiciary from the smear of a convicted judge. He did not seem to appreciate that such a smear could be nowhere near as deep and offensive as the one that would follow were the Supreme Court to concede the slightest particle of virtue in such a plea.

It is because the very federal judicial system to which Manton was a traitor was able to follow with bright intelligence the numerous foils and barriers employed to conceal the crime, collar the criminal, yank him off the bench and cast him in prison that reflects a brightness overcoming the pitiful little blot an unscrupulous scoundrel cast upon an otherwise perfect record.

MEDICINE IS A TRADE

It may be remembered that when the American Medical Association was proceeded against as a violator of the Anti-Trust law the Federal District Court dismissed the action upon the ground that the practice of medicine is not a "trade" within the meaning of the law.

Now the Court of Appeals has reversed the District Court with the decision that the law governing restraints of trade "has not been confined as defendants insist to the field of commercial activity, ordinarily defined as trade, but embraces as well the field of the medical profession."

Since the expression "interstate commerce" has been stretched farther in the last few years than any piece of rubber made by Goodrich it may be the appropriate time for us to become accustomed to the pulling apart of other words that it was once thought had certain particular meanings.

But the Court of Appeals is not the final resort. The Supreme Court no doubt will be called upon to decide whether our doctors are tradesmen and whether when laws prevent tradesmen from doing certain things they refer to the profession as well.

Of course it would be a very simple matter for Congress to amend the Anti-trust law and include the medical profession if that is the wish of the country. But New Deal Courts, while denouncing former courts for performing the work of legislators go right on legislating themselves.

Some day they may even decide that politics too is a trade.

THE END OF HER WINTER

Although the snow is white upon the ground,
The birds are hailing the approach of Spring.
The stream, so lately still, by winter bound,
Is to the great adventure hurrying.

Her hair is white with the December snows,
But in her heart there is a melody.
As toward the end of winter-time she goes,
Borne on the currents of Infinity.

The DAILY WASHINGTON
MERRY GO ROUND
TRADE MARK REGISTERED

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Spring is in the air but there is little lilt these days in the heart of Vice President Jack Garner. He is in a distinctly subdued frame of mind and not his usual jovial self.

About the senate he keeps pretty much to himself and does not josh with members and newsmen as he used to do. Reason for the change is the sad state of his presidential boom.

Inside fact is that it is sagging badly. Launched with an astutely managed publicity splash several months ago, the campaign has failed to get off the ground. National and state Democratic leaders, the boys who really decide the state, are shunning the Garner bandwagon. While it is still rolling, it's not going anywhere.

Evidence of this is in the newspaper polls held in various parts of the country, which invariably rate Garner far down in the choices of local Democratic chiefs. The recent mock primary in Georgia, in which he got only 17 votes as against more than 800 for Roosevelt, was another graphic illustration of the coolness toward him.

But while much of the inner zip of the Garner drive has evaporated, he personally is still determined to see the fight out to the end.

The primary objective of Garner's candidacy is to stop a third term. At the start it was more a "Stop Roosevelt" movement than a drive to nominate Garner. That developed only after it had been under way for some time. Garner is as strongly anti-third term today as ever, and he intends to continue fighting against it right up to the convention, regardless of how he fares himself.

Note—Certain influential Garner leaders, seeing how the cards are shaping up, have privately begun to boost popular House Floor Leader Sam Rayburn in a Roosevelt-Rayburn combination, on the theory that Rayburn on the ticket would placate Garner and the conservative southerners and keep them in line.

ICKES AND THE SHARKS

Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, wife of the famous crooner, was entertaining Mr. and Mrs. L. W. (Chip) Robert of the Democratic national committee on the McCutcheons' Bahaman island recently.

The island is called Treasure Island because it was once the stronghold of pirates in the days of the Spanish Main, and Mrs. McCutcheon was pointing out its bathing beaches to Mrs. Robert. "What do you do about the sharks and the barracuda," asked Mrs. Robert, noticing the lack of protection between the beach and the open sea.

"We just ignore them," replied Mrs. McCutcheon.

"But what if they are like Mr. Ickes and refuse to be ignored?"

POLITICAL CHAFF

Representative Howard Smith, wing-collared chairman of the special committee investigating the National Labor Relations board, faces the fight of his political life for re-election this year. William C. Glavin, Jr., popular and powerful county judge, is going after Smith's scalp with the argument that he has neglected the interests of his Virginia district to become an aloof "statesman" . . . Dr. Francis Townsend, czar of the old-age pension movement, secretly opposed to back Senator Sheridan Downey for president, but Downey declined. . . . John L. Lewis apparently is determined to get back at the Roosevelt sentiment in the CIO. Heads of CIO unions who favor a third term have been quietly informed that if per capita dues of their organizations have not been paid up they had better "pipe down."

BORAH'S SECRETARY

Miss Cora Rubin, secretary to the late Senator Borah throughout his 33 years in Washington, is filling the same position with Senator John Thomas, his successor.

One of the ace secretaries on Capitol Hill, Miss Rubin received a number of government and private offers, but preferred to continue in her old post. Thomas offered her the job immediately after learning he would be named to Borah's seat.

Thomas also secured the desk his great predecessor used for many years. Senator Vandenberg, who laid claim to Borah's office on the right of seniority, wanted the desk, but Miss Rubin quietly removed it to Thomas' office.

Borah's papers and files have been sent to the Library of Congress, where they will be arranged and made available to students and historians. Mrs. Borah has received several requests from writers for access to the documents to compile a biography of her husband.

Mrs. Borah is living quietly in the apartment she and the senator occupied for many years. Her health is good, but she is still recovering from the ordeal she went through. She has been asked to write her memoirs, but has made no decision as yet.

Letters from friends and admirers of the senator are still coming in. They run into the thousands. One of the most touching was received the morning of the funeral in Boise, Idaho, from an old woman in Canada, who enclosed a $5 bill which she said she had received as a Christmas gift and which she asked to be used to buy a spray of flowers for the casket. Mrs. Borah wrote her a personal letter of thanks and enclosed a picture of the senator.

FARM CREDIT PURGE

More heads will shortly be lopped off in the stormy purge of rebellious Old Guards from the Farm Credit administration, which has been raging since the ousting last December of Governor F. F. Hill.

Despite Senator Guy Gillette's threat of an investigation, Secretary Wallace is quietly going ahead with his clean-up. First among those slated for the axe is Land Bank Commissioner Albert S. Goss, ringleader of the fierce undercover struggle to wrest the FCA from Wallace and re-establish it as an independent agency under a five-man board.

Goss and his clique have been stirred up ever since the FCA was shifted to the Department of Agriculture by reorganization. They drafted a bill, introduced by Gillette, to restore the FCA to its former independent status. This, plus the Old Guard resentment of Wallace's liberalization of FCA credit policies, led to Hill's discharge and the recent resignations of Deputy Governor Gerald Lyons and General Counsel Peyton Evans.

It's an FCA secret, but at the time Lyons and Evans got their walking papers, Goss also was asked to resign. He defiantly refused until to could present his case personally to President Roosevelt.

He is destined to get little consolation there, because Roosevelt has been one of the big factors behind Wallace's house-cleaning. Also, the president is a strong admirer of A. C. Black, Hill's successor and a sworn foe of Goss. With Roosevelt-Wallace blessing, Black has cut down FCA farm foreclosures, which reached an all-time high under Hill last summer, more than 50 per cent.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Despite all this talk about the gloomy prospects for American youth of today, every community still has a generous assortment of old-fashioned proud papas who view their bright boys as potential Presidents.

We've encountered relatively few parents, however, who envision their sapient sons as justices of the Supreme Court. Perhaps something ought to be done to stimulate that ambition.

First of all a promising youngster's chances for reaching the high court are statistically 9 to 1 better than his prospects for going to the White House. Second, the public esteem for a justice often is equal to—and sometimes greater than—that accorded a chief executive. Third, a Supreme Court post is just about the nicest of all nice jobs in Washington.

It's a good bet that some of the current justices are weighing the perquisites of their posts right now.

Five Are Mentioned

Gentlemen of the court, in unusually large number, are being included in this year's speculation on presidential possibilities.

Justices Douglas, Murphy and Frankfurter have been mentioned on the Democratic side; Justices Roberts and Stone on the Republican.

Only once in American political history has a justice left the high bench to become a presidential candidate. Charles Evans Hughes was "drafted" by the Republicans in 1916 and resigned from the court on the day of his nomination. Political adversaries attacked him for "quitting the sacrosanct atmosphere of the court for the sordid political arena," notwithstanding the high level of his personal campaign.

Many a congressman in the thick of legislative turmoil and facing a fight back home for reelection must look with longing on the serene round of duties of the nine men in black. Justices don't have to write explanatory letters to disgruntled constituents. They're not harassed by persistent applications for jobs from "deserving" supporters. Nobody blames them for depressions or unbalanced budgets.

Few Social Obligations

They have pleasant work, for a lifetime, in pleasant surroundings, even the cuspidors are works of art in the magnificent Supreme Court building. The pay of $20,000 a year—double what a Senator gets—goes on at the same rate after retirement.

Since it is traditionally good form for the justices to live comparatively aloof from persons active in politics, expensive entertaining is not necessary. They have high official and social ranking, yet they need not attend the innumerable stuffy functions that are a heavy drain on the strength of Presidents and others in the political whirlpool.

Grade A Washington hostesses consider a justice—not to mention a chief justice—a prize catch for a dinner party. The best part of it is the justice is not obligated to return the courtesies. Some justices regularly decline White House invitations and their regrets are always accepted in good grace because of their unique social category.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Friday, March 7, 1930

Word was received that day by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, that Outagamie county's proposed $60,000 bond issue to pay the county's share of the cost of the new Lawe street bridge at Kaukauna, had been approved by the state attorney general.

Mrs. Clara Hopfensperger was surprised by a number of friends Thursday evening at her home 1013 W. College avenue, in honor of her birthday. Bridge was played with prizes going to Leo Milhaupt, Mrs. Gerald Stelflug and Mrs. F. Schneider.

The Kimberly Club basketball team won a close victory from the strong Niagara Badgers the previous night at Kimberly by a score of 39 to 38. The score never varied more than three points.

I see Martin Dies switched from that swanky Miami beach hotel to one where he got "three double rooms with baths for $18 a day." If that don't establish Martin as a successful hunter nothing will. No body else ever dug up anything like that at an American winter resort.

The score in the ocean hide-and-seek tournament is:
Bremen 1; Elizabeth 1. I guess it's a question who's the more surprised that the Queen Liz got across safely, Chamberlain or Hitler.

"STEADY, BENITO!"

Under the CAPTIVE DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The confusion in the Wisconsin Progressive party about its position in the state elections this year is well illustrated by the revival of vague speculation that Phil LaFollette will run again—for the sixth time.

This column has observed before, and now reiterates that there is only the most remote possibility that LaFollette will run for state office again.

His position, as conveyed by some of his most intimate advisers, is that in three terms in the executive chair he has contributed to state government and state problems all that he knows how to give. He can better serve the political organization he heads by allowing it to prove that it can produce others of gubernatorial calibre, and by directing his own energies toward the cultivation of a new national political alignment.

The only condition which can qualify that attitude, according to the best sources, is the possibility that the wrong man may be nominated in the party primary this year, a man who does not hold his confidence, a man he does not believe capable of giving a creditable showing, or of leading the party. Whether that condition will exist later this year cannot be determined now. Speculation, consequently, must be idle.

BROTHERLY URGE

The suggestion is now put forward that Senator LaFollette who may not feel so sure of his chances this year, will persuade Phil to get on the ticket in order to strengthen it, and thus help return "our" Bob to Washington for six more years.

Such gossip, however, can easily be shown to be unrealistic.

Talk to any representative group of Progressive party men for ten minutes and you will find Bob stronger than Phil.

Brother Bob has been in Washington for 15 years, making speeches, getting headlines, writing letters, introducing bills, campaigning in the long intervals between sessions of six year terms, saving a dozen chances to make friends to Phil's one. Phil has been on the firing line in Wisconsin, bothered with patronage, making issues, conducting elections at close intervals, the problems of arbitrating between the right and the left, managing the party, the problem of leadership.

Or look at the 1934 election returns, when the brothers ran together on the same ticket. In that year Brother Bob got 440,000 votes, while Phil trailed along with about 370,000. You can scarcely prove from that that Phil would be able to help his brother this year.

There are other evidences that the candidacy of LaFollette is extremely unlikely. Harold Stafford and John Thiel, for example, would not now be oiling their guns if they suspected even slightly that LaFollette is available.

WISDOM

This column has observed before that Phil LaFollette is probably the wisest politician in Wisconsin. He ought to be, of course; he has been in politics since he was promoted from knee pants by parents who were highly accomplished political artists before him. He knows, therefore, something of the spirit of the Progressive party today, the feeling that if he ever runs again, it should not be this year.

The NPA incident still rankles deeply in the hearts of some Progressive stalwarts. There are those who resent his lone wolf attitude in that extremely sensational move, and haven't forgotten. There are others who disagreed, even among those who were consulted. There are those who were never

MERELY A SYMPTOM

Although our medical textbooks still describe this and that drug as an "antipyretic" (which is our quaint medical way of saying it lowers body temperature) no doctor worthy of the name would prescribe or administer medicine to relieve body temperature without first trying to ascertain what is causing the elevation of temperature and whether it would be wise or safe to attempt to reduce the temperature. In other words, elevation of temperature above the normal is merely a symptom and it is generally foolish if not dangerous to treat symptoms without regard to their cause. This applies to headache too. Especially when the individual is subject to headache or has it frequently.

Some headaches are genuine and others are not at all what they purport to be. The headache of migraine, commonly called "sick" headache and so attributed to upset stomach or disordered digestion, certainly is not so caused. "Bilious" headache and "nervous" headache may be due to various causes but certainly not to any fault of the bile apparatus or the nerves. "Eustachian" headache is much more frequently due to other causes than to actual eyestrain.

There is a popular fallacy that high blood pressure manifests itself by headache. In fact few patients with high blood pressure complain of headache at all. On the other hand "congestive" headache or headache associated with a feeling of pressure or throbbing in the head, cannot be the sense of it today.

If Brother Bob does anything irregular to bolster his own chances, it will be in the direction of the New Deal Democrats, who are willing to throw in with him with only slight encouragement. That willingness may change to suspicion if Phil LaFollette is involved, for they remember that in his NPA christening LaFollette did not flatter the New Deal or its leader.

They know that when he speaks, criticism of the New Deal is always implied in his insistence on a new party.

Remember that it was Bob who got the valuable blessing of Mr. Roosevelt in Green Bay in 1934—while Phil, who was also running, got a snubbing. Remember the kind words of such assorted New Dealers as C. E. Broughton, Francis E. McGovern, Gustave J. Keller, F. Ryan Duffy, and others, have been bestowed on Bob, not Phil.

A huge, roomy, separate, chamber specially designed for frozen storage. Plenty of room for packaged Frozen Foods (even for a turkey), for extra supply of ice cubes, for ice cream, for delicious frozen desserts to delight your family and friends.

DRY COLD
Compartment

Many refrigerators give you only "dry" cold. With proper covers for foods that should not lose moisture, dry cold serves all purposes of food protection better than any single kind of cold. Some foods must have dry cold to preserve their purity. That's why no modern refrigerator is completely safe and healthful unless it offers dry cold for those foods that need it. The Philco Refrigerator has this complete separate compartment.

MOIST COLD
Compartment

Now, you don't have to cover foods to keep them from shriveling and drying out! This Moist Cold Compartment preserves the taste, flavor, color and juices of cooked meats and left-over vegetables... without the fuss and bother of covers, without the annoyance and wasted space of special dishes. Cooled by a marvelous new Philco invention, the refrigerated aluminum Freshener Shelf. Cools foods quicker, by direct contact. Only Philco has it!

Davis Describes Broadway Play Season as 'Forlorn' in Address Sponsored by A.A.U.W. Branch

DESCRIBING what he called "a forlorn season," Richard S. Davis, Milwaukee Journal drama and music critic, discussed the current Broadway plays for a large audience Thursday night at Lawrence Conservatory of Music. The Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women sponsored his appearance here.

There is not a serious, profound play in New York this year, Mr. Davis said, and he saw no prospect of one until the Lunts open in Robert Sherwood's new play. The reason, he explained, is that America's best playwrights, such as Elmer Rice, Maxwell Anderson and Clifford Odets, are of the radical point of view, and now that public opinion has swung so sharply against Russia and communism they have had to soften their messages.

Of the plays that are being shown, Mr. Davis gives first place to "The Male Animal," by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent. Not profound, but quick, bright and cleverly acted, he said it was the most enjoyable of the season's original offerings.

"Life with Father" would have been his first choice, except that it is not an original play, but an adaptation from Clarence Day's book of the same name. Both the New York and the Chicago versions of the play are excellent, he said.

Mr. Davis was, however, disappointed in the successful Kaufman and Hart play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which he termed unnecessarily vulgar. He said it was incredible that a man as distinguished as Alexander Woollcott should allow himself to be lampooned as he is in this play, and even appear in the part himself, as he has been doing in the west.

"Two On an Island" If Elmer Rice wrote nothing profound this year, he at least wrote something delightful. "Two on an Island," Mr. Davis continued, is the story of two young people in

John Barrymore in "My Dear Children" is a disgrace to the stage, he declared. The actor is intoxicated at every performance and lovers of the drama Mr. Davis continued with a twinkle in his eye, have gone to performance after performance in the hopes of seeing Mr. Barrymore pitch forward into the orchestra pit. That he hasn't is due to the kindness of the members of his supporting cast, who have caught him by the coat tails before he became weak on his feet.

A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Davis in Dean Carl Waterman's studio followed the lecture. The newspaperman is a former Appleton resident, having lived here during the years his father Dr. John Davis was minister of the Methodist church.

Latin Club Members Depict Story of Pyramus and Thisbe

MEMBERS of Foedus Latinum, Latin club of Appleton High school, entertained at a tea for Der Deutsche Verein and the Masque and Book club Thursday afternoon. In the spirit of spring, table decorations were carried out in yellow and green. Hostesses on the refreshment committee were Carol Schuh, Peggy Ogilvie, Jackie Wells, Mary Lou Jackson, Merrie Ebert, Jean Hoelzer and Ann Radtke.

Latin students entertained their fellow linguists with a dramatic presentation of Shakespeare's famous version of the Pyramus and Thisbe tale as it is told in a "Midsummer Night's Dream." Pyramus, "sweet youth and tall," was played by David Gallaher, Stanley Williams, demure in a yellow wig and a sheet for a robe, was Thisbe.

Tom Letter had the part of the wall, "that did these lovers sunder." Charles Hervey, in the character of Peter Quince, presented the prologue and the cast of characters. The moonlight was ably played by Jack Courtney with "lanthorn, dog and bush of thorn." Robert Connolly was the "lion fell." Preceding the skit Mary Bob Knapp told the history of Pyramus and Thisbe and summarized the Latin version as it is told by the Roman poet Ovid.

Language students competed with one another singing rounds in the different tongues; and sounds of "Are You Sleeping?" "Nonne Dormis?" "Schlafest du?" were mingled. The program ended with the singing of "America" in the three languages.

Entertainment was planned by Marie Tilly, chairman, Genevieve Schaefer, James Miller, Donald

Wisconsin Club Women Will Combine State Conclave With Meeting of National Council

MILWAUKEE and all Wisconsin club women plan a welcome to the twentieth annual meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs May 19 to 23. By calling Wisconsin club women to attend a 1-day meeting, the forty-fourth annual state convention will be held May 20 instead of the usual 4-day meeting next fall. This will set a precedent which enables the state women to attend both gatherings.

Among the Appleton women who will attend will be Mrs. Edgar V. Werner, eighth district president who is on the entertainment committee for the general council meeting; Mrs. James B. Waag, state chairman of club institutions; and Mrs. George R. Wettengel, state chairman of adult education.

This year the council will review federation accomplishments, and standing on the threshold of its golden jubilee, will consider the objectives of the next half century in the light of the council theme chosen by the president, Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, "Behold, I have set before thee an open door which none can shut."

Although meetings will not be officially called until Monday, May 20, guests are invited to arrive Sunday for special services in prominent churches; the clinic and flower show of the Wisconsin Garden federation; and the tea, honoring general and state board members at the Wauwatosa Woman's club house, where Mrs. L. S. Brodd, president, will be assisted by the board members and club presidents of the fourth and fifth districts.

Preliminary meetings of national executive committee, state directors and presidents, department chairmen and other special groups will be held Monday, May 20, at the Schroeder hotel, while simultaneously in the Auditorium Plankinton hall Mrs. J. N. Carow will direct the following program: Reports of retiring district presidents; installation of new district presidents; introduction of newly appointed chairmen to fill vacancies; presentation of Youmans prize winner; presentation of candidacy of Mrs. A. L. Blackstone for General Federation secretary. At the noon luncheon, the state will honor its pioneer club women.

The afternoon session will include presentation of pioneer women by districts, vote on state flower, report on birthday parties and other golden jubilee events; foundation fund and birthday offerings; messages from national officers, preceding Mrs. Carow's closing theme, "What of the Next 50 Years?"

The Wisconsin Night banquet Monday in the Hotel Schroeder's Crystal ballroom, honoring the general federation board, which will have Mrs. J. N. Carow, honorary chairman; Miss Harriet Humphrey, chairman; Miss Jennie Schrage, vice chairman; and members of the state board acting as table hostesses, will formally open the council meeting, and will be followed by the president's reception in honor of Mrs. Dunbar.

President Lucia Briggs of Milwaukee Downer college will be hostess at tea Tuesday in Chapman Memorial hall and on the lawn of Hawthorned. The many tours, luncheons and social gatherings planned, are highlighted by state directors' night Wednesday followed by a midnight preview; junior night Thursday; the "celebrities dinner" Friday by the fine arts group, preceding the general federation president's night; and the grand finale Saturday, "Wisconsin day," the council's recreational climax.

Sightseeing trips will be arranged through city, county, and state, to acquaint visitors with Wisconsin's unique diversity of scene and industry.

Waupaca Teachers Ask for Changes in New Contracts

Waupaca—At the request of the Waupaca Teachers' association, the board of education met Thursday evening in the high school library with representatives of the association, to discuss problems which arose when the teachers were confronted this week with their new contracts. For years it has been the custom of teachers of the local schools to receive simple agreements requesting their signature which assured them of a position but which left the board of education with no protection in case of a resignation of a teacher.

Conferences of faculty members during the week resulted in a resolution which was presented to the board at this meeting. While no action was taken on the resolution other than full discussion, another meeting will be held in the near future.

The resolution, presented to the board by Henry P. Lapman, president of the association, declares that since the board of education adopted a salary schedule in 1937 it has been disregarded in its entirety, and that the teachers feel their interests make it imperative to know what their position is, and therefore petition the board to state whether that salary schedule is still in effect, or whether it has been replaced by a different means of determining salary increases and differentials. The teachers realize that that schedule was not a promise but feel it is an objective and a guide.

The teachers also believe that since their chances of advancement are being restricted, it can be expected that those people who are interested in teaching as a career and show the most promise of teaching success will be discouraged by colleges and agencies from accepting positions in Waupaca. They predicted that Waupaca may lose as many teachers as are able to secure new positions elsewhere.

Referring to the penalty of 5 per cent of annual salary, to be levied in case of resignation after 14 days before opening of school, they stated that since this term is levied regardless of circumstances surrounding the resignation, they resolved that 30 days notice be given by any teacher wishing to resign after Aug. 1 and that a fine of $5 be levied on any one failing to give this notice, also that $15 shall be paid as liquidating damages by any teacher resigning after Aug. 1 and before Sept. 1 and that the penalty be increased by $5 per month for each month later when resignation becomes effective, but that no penalty be imposed because of illness.

A clause in the teachers' contract which provides that teachers not cumulative for more than 14 days when a teacher is on leave without pay was also discussed. The teachers want the right to be paid for the contract period if the school has never been opened. The teachers are continually exposed to contagious diseases.

Medina Ladies Aid Will Serve Supper

Medina—The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church of Medina will serve supper in the church dining room Thursday March 14. The committee in charge is Mrs. Fred Abraham, Mrs. Sol Yankee and Mrs. Ralph Haas.

A special meeting of the South Medina cemetery association was held March 1 and Gerald Ruppel was elected to fill the unexpired term of Wesley Bryer. The officers are: President, Arthur Yankee, vice president, Earl Ruppel, secretary treasurer Gordon Siebert, directors Sol Yankee, Gerald Ruppel, Charles Langman.

Delbert Drahelm has taken over management of the former Bryer's Service Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Christianson formerly of Medina, are making their home with Marvin Christianson. Mr. Christianson is employed at Menasha.

Mrs. Charles Schneider and Mrs. A. P. Stencil attended the meeting of the guild at the home of Mrs. A. L. Frisch of Dale, Thursday.

Jerome Fox Named as Convention Delegate

Chilton—Jerome Fox, past grand knight, was elected by the Calumet Council Knights of Columbus to attend the state convention at Superior May 20-21, as a delegate, at a meeting held in Chilton Wednesday evening. Mr. Fox will accompany Grand Knight F. J. Hlanacan who is an ex-officio delegate of the council. F. J. Schneider and Carl Lehner were named alternates. Vincent Henkober, state chairman of the Calumet council, of the order, will also attend from the Chilton council.

The council voted to continue its program of asking all business places in the county to close on Good Friday from noon until 1 o'clock. The council voted also to hold its annual Holy Thursday night service before the Blessed Sacrament in one of the Chilton churches.

Unlimited Powers

The contract as accepted by the board calls for observance of all rules and regulations now in force or such as may later be adopted, the teachers declared that this statement is unequalled and justifies restriction of civil liberties, unlimited teacher load and complete unequalled servitude to the board of education. They asked that this be modified to assure the protection of the teachers' rights. The contract might be interpreted as a vague statement of cooperation in that it says that the performance of the teachers shall be taken into consideration in the determination of the salary. It is stated that this interpretation could not be so interpreted.

Referring to attendance at an accredited summer school or travel equivalent which is valued at $50 of a per diem of $50 if not supplied with travel money, the teachers' resolution demanded that the section be changed to state that it is the duty of the board to provide for the transportation of the teachers to the school and that the board shall be responsible for the transportation of the teachers to the school.

Referring to the penalty to be imposed if a teacher is absent in the event of a resignation after the contract is signed up to 14 days before the opening of the fall term of school, they stated that if a teacher is employed by the board, the board should be responsible for the transportation of the teachers to the school.

Since the board has recently assumed complete responsibility for determination of teachers' salaries and this is contrary to accepted educational procedure and contrary to the best education of standards as established by teachers associations, departments of education and other educational agencies, and since the superintendent of schools in any system is a man trained in educational matters and the only person in a position to know and evaluate the work of teachers, the association requested that the board solicit the advice and recommendation of the superintendent in the matter of salaries and follow that advice wherever possible.

Teachers who were present at the conference were Henry P. Lapman, president of the association; Vincent Graham, Harold Caanan, Mrs. E. W. Gurley, Miss LeNore Mjelde, Miss Dorothy Gates and Miss Dorothy Roloff.

Mrs. Roosevelt Widely Approved in Survey; Found to be More Popular Than Her Husband

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion
Princeton, N. J.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of the most active women ever to live in the White House, wins a strong vote of approval from her fellow countrymen in a national survey just completed by the American Institute of Public Opinion. Results indicate that the "First Lady" is, in fact, more popular than her husband the President.

Because of widespread criticism of Mrs. Roosevelt's part in the American Youth Congress and because no other president's wife has been so much a topic of conversation as Mrs. Roosevelt, the Institute set out to test the nation's reaction toward her. It found that she is just as popular today as she was a year ago when a similar study was made.

She is more popular with young voters than with older voters and more popular with the low-income groups than the upper income groups, but throughout virtually all classes and ages she has many more friends than enemies. The comments typical of the majority in the survey give a picture of what the public likes:

"She is a great lady doing good work."
"She has worked for the under-dog."
"With her intelligent mind and ability she has set a good example for American women."

The survey was conducted in exactly the same manner as the Institute's regular monthly studies of President Roosevelt's popularity. The question was:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Mrs. Roosevelt has conducted herself as 'First Lady'?"

Today Year Ago
68% 67%
32% 33%

The latest study of her husband's popularity indicates that 64 per cent approve Mr. Roosevelt as president. Mrs. Roosevelt is much more popular among Democrats than she is among Republicans, the poll shows, with 84 per cent of the Democrats voting in her favor. But it is interesting to note that nearly one-half of the Republicans (49 per cent) also say they approve of her as "First Lady."

The voters who disapprove give several reasons. Typical of these reasons are the following:

"She should spend more time in the White House."
"She is too conspicuous, she gets too much publicity."
"The attitude by income groups clearly shows where the chief disapproval of Mrs. Roosevelt originates."

Upper Income Group 56%
Middle Income Group 66%
Lower Income Group 44%
32% 33%

By age groups the results show less variation. Those under 30 years of age approve of Mrs. Roosevelt by 77 per cent; those between 30 and 50 years by 70 per cent; and those 50 and over by 61 per cent.

Thedinga Says Welles Trying to Discourage Nazi Victory Hopes

Neenah—Dr. O. E. Thedinga, history instructor at Oshkosh State Teachers college, told the Neenah Rotary club at a noon meeting Thursday at the Valley Inn that he believed Sumner Welles, United States undersecretary of state, was trying to discourage hopes of a Nazi victory over the allies.

Dr. Thedinga stated, "I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Welles told Hitler that the Nazi cause is a lost one for if a Nazi victory became imminent, the United States would step in on the part of the allies to a greater degree until it would be a repetition of 1917-18."

The history instructor said that peace as a motive for Welles' "fact-finding mission" was secondary, however, for he believes that Welles is trying to sound out the proposed economic setups in Europe following the war.

Sees Trade Control

"If the allies are victorious, an international trade control, dominated by Great Britain, will be established, which would hamper United States' trade with Europe and the east."

Contending that the war will shift to the Balkans, Dr. Thedinga told the Rotarians that Great Britain would welcome a Hitler attack in the Balkans. England feels that it is well equipped to take care of such an attack and there the British will be able to close German's Black Sea route to its oil supply.

Without oil, Germany would be whipped.

Dr. Thedinga said that "Italy is the best blackmailer in international politics," waiting until it is practically assured which side will win the war and joining the victors.

The British now are applying pressure on Italy with its blockade.

Application to Establish Airline In Valley Denied

Aeronaotics Authority Turns Down Plane Service Through Appleton

The Civil Aeronautics Authority Thursday denied the Northwest Airlines' application for authority to operate a loop air service for the Fox River valley, connecting with its lines to Chicago and the Twin Cities.

At the same time, the CAA granted the Northwest's application for new service between the Twin Cities and Duluth and Superior.

Although interested persons of organizations have 10 days Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said today that nothing further would be done at this time to promote the air service because "they have shown us conclusively that an air line through the valley couldn't be justified."

The points to be served in the proposed denied included Appleton, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Wausau, Marinette and Sheboygan in this area.

Denial of the application was recommended Dec. 27 by authority examiners who contended that Fox valley points have excellent mail service through combined plane and train service connecting with airlines in Milwaukee and Chicago.

The annual cost of operating and maintaining facilities for the proposed line from Milwaukee to Marquette, Mich., would be $262 per mile, including installation and maintenance of radio equipment at Green Bay and other cities, and field lighting equipment.

The cost of operating the planes would be at least 30 cents per air-mile which would justify a mail rate of 35 cents a mile and the assumption of the heavy cost to government . . . would not be justified."

Continue Conference

Continuance of the Stockholm conference, strengthening the meeting ground of the Russian minister to Sweden, Madame Alexandra Kolontay, and the former Finnish foreign minister, Eljas Erkkio;

And enforcement of a strict Swedish censorship which was deemed likely unless the peace efforts remained hopeful.

Blucher, mentioned as a possible Russian negotiator, was the famous commander of the Far Eastern red army until the summer of 1938, when he was replaced and disappeared from public view. A few months later it was reported he had been given a war office assignment in Moscow; Soviet officials declined to comment on reports he had been "purged."

His spectacular career includes two years as advisor to the Chinese nationalist armies of Chiang Kai-shek in 1925-27, when he was known as "General Galen."

Congressman Bolles Denies Wife Is on His Clerical Staff

Washington.—Congressman Stephen Bolles, Janesville Republican, says, "My wife is not on my payroll" in answer to a charge made by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, Washington columnists, that "the names of relatives have popped up on the enlarged congressional payroll like toadstools after a summer snowdrift."

Mrs. Bolles is mentioned specifically in the Pearson and Allen column, "Washington Daily Mercury-Round", but Bolles says, "She worked for only a few weeks, to get out the mail. I didn't think she should work without being paid for it."

"Last year, after hacking a large chunk out of the relief appropriation, the Merry-Go-Round column stated on Tuesday, 'Congress, on the approved plan that it was overworked and didn't have enough clerical help, voted an additional $1,500 per member for this purpose. Many members have used the money for clerical hire, but to others it has just been a juicy gravy-bowl windfall'."

Bolles says, however, that his wife is not now on his payroll and it would be no "crime" if she were. He points out that the wife of Vice President John N. Garner has been his secretary for years.

British Treasury Votes Huge Credit For War Purposes

aged 11 merchantmen off the British coasts last night and Wednesday night.

Colonel Josiah C. Wedgwood, laborite member of parliament, has expressed hope that "we shall soon tackle the Germans with their own weapons on their own ground and . . . drop bombs on military objectives."

He made slighting reference to the Royal Air Force's propaganda pamphleteering flights over Germany—"confetti raids," he called them—and suggested:

"Let us stop this farcical waste of lives, valuable machines and petrol (gasoline) which we shall need if anything serious comes along."

Sir Roger Keyes, admiral of the fleet, found in the situation a fortification of his contention that his majesty's navy should control its own air force, independent of the air ministry.

"It has been 300 years since we suffered such indignities as we have suffered in the last few months," the admiral declared in a speech last night.

Thus he renewed the agitation for a partition of the R.A.F. which Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood sought to quiet in the house of commons yesterday with a declaration that he and Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, were fighting Germany—not each other.

A secret appropriation of an unprecedented size for the R.A.F. was approved last night without record vote by commons. The amount was shielded by the token figure of 1100 $400.

The latest casualty in the aerial warfare at sea was the 5,335-ton Italian steamed Amelia Lauro, bombed and set afire off the south-east coast last night. Another Italian ship, the Titania, answered the Amelia Lauro's S O S and early today 29 men, three of them wounded, were brought ashore.

Meanwhile, a fier from a German plane shot down off the east coast yesterday was rescued from a rubber life raft.

Express Surprise At Backing Given Advertising Plan

State Officials Expect As- sociation to Reach Fund Quota May 1

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — State officials privately expressed surprise today at the degree of success obtained by the Wisconsin Dairy Industries association in its drive for monetary contributions from the dairy industry to finance a $100,000 advertising campaign.

The amount sought by the dairy group will probably be subscribed by May 1, it was reported, so that the beginning of the augmented promotion program may be set for the latter part of 1940.
Under the plan farmers will be assessed a sum roughly equal to ten cents per producing dairy cow during the month of August. The state department of agriculture and markets has loaned its facilities and some of its employees to the privately organized dairy industries committee to facilitate collection and solicitation, and to date has pledged 130,000,000 pounds of butterfat for assessment, an amount which will produce about two thirds of the $100,000 set as a minimum fund to finance the drive.

At the same time some state agricultural officials expressed themselves as disappointed at the reception given by the American cheese industry last week to a proposal for a 4-day drying order in that industry.
Ralph E. Ammon, department director, with the support of the state agricultural advisory board, had suggested four days of drying in the cheese factory before paraffining of American cheeses. It was suggested as a part of the state quality improvement program. Arguing that it would necessitate enlarged storage space, cheesemakers in two hearings at Marshfield and Fond du Lac last week turned thumbs

Krause Herd High In Production in Cow Testing Unit

Holsteins Show Butterfat Average of 48.1 Pounds for Month

Nineteen grade Holsteins and Guernseys owned by William Krause produced 23,701 pounds of milk with a 3.85 per cent test or an average of 48.1 pounds of butterfat per cow to take first place in the Outagamie County Dairy Herd Improvement association, No. 6, for February, according to Melvin Haebercker, tester.

The Frank Bacheller herd was second with a butterfat average of 36 pounds. Third was the Alfred Techlin herd with a 27.9-pound average. The Robert Paltzer herd was fourth with an average of 26.9 pounds, and the Aaron Lamers herd fifth with an average of 26.8 pounds.

First in individual production was a grade Holstein in the Henry Smith herd, showing 1,523 pounds of milk with a 4.9 test and containing 74.8 pounds of butterfat. A cow in the Paul Kroes herd placed second with 67.5 pounds of butterfat. Third place was taken by another cow in the same herd with 62.8 pounds. A cow in the John Van Asten herd was fourth with 61.5 pounds, and a cow in the William Krause herd fifth with 60.1 pounds.

Following are owners and number of cows producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat for the period: John Van Asten 2, John Coenen 5, Paul Kroes 4, Chester Appleton 3, Clem Vandenberg 1, Willard Carney 3, William Krause 12, Clarence Schlimm 4, Ed Vogel 4, Maurice Powers 2, Aaron Lamers 3, Robert Paltzer 4, Bernard Mares 4, Henry Smith 1, Henry Elanigan 1, Frank Bacheller 8, Bert Zobel 1, Alfred Techlin 4 and Robert Murphy 3.

Auction Gives Farmers Chance to Name Own Price for Items

Sale at City View Stock Farm Wednesday Attracts 500 Bargain Seeking Buyers

Farmers like auctions, and when one was held at the City View Stock farm near Neenah Wednesday about 500 attended. The picture at the upper left shows the auctioneer, Col. A. J. Thiel, Chilton, in action. Immediately above is a picture taken during lively bidding for a team of horses. At the left another group of farmers is "taking things easy," apparently not being interested in buying the item on the auction block at the moment. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Booming Voice of Auctioneer Makes Sales as Farmers Vie With Bids for Bargain Items

BY L. J. DERUS
"I offered $75. Who'll put on $2.50? I have it. Now, I have $77.50, who'll make it $80? Where could you get a buy like this for $80, men? I ask you? $80? $80? Who'll make it $80? It's worth a hundred, men, and all I'm offered is $77.50. Who'll put on $2.50? There it is. Now, make it $82.50, $82.50. I've $80, who'll put on $2.50? All done? All done? Going, going. Last chance. All done?"
"Sold! Sold to the man in the gray hat. You made yourself a buy, mister."
The heavy, confident voice is that of the auctioneer, standing on an empty barrel so that he can look over the crowd of 400 or 500 persons. The voice, appealing, bustling, suggesting and sometimes

Hacker Ayrshires Show High Butterfat Average

The 19 Ayrshires owned in the Lone Chestnut farm herd of Robert J. Hacker and Sons, Brillion, completed the highly creditable herd average of 992 pounds of 4.12 per cent milk, 40.84 pounds of butterfat on a twice-a-day milking schedule in the Ayrshire Herd test during the month of January.

A 3-year-old heifer named Lone Chestnut Pansy Beauty topped the herd in individual production with a yield of 1488 pounds of milk, 74.40 pounds of butterfat. She was followed by Buttercup's Cherry, a 7-year-old cow, that made 1513 pounds of milk, 66.57 pounds of butterfat. Lone Chestnut's White, a 5-year-old, ranked third high with a yield of 1647 pounds of milk, 64.23 pounds of butterfat, and Lone Chestnut's Betty Star placed fourth with a production of 1886 pounds of milk, 60.70 pounds of butterfat in 7-year-old form.

mildly berating when bidding slows down, is a bit husky from hours of talking.

It belongs to Col. Andrew J. Thiel, Chilton, auctioneer, handling the sale of cattle and equipment of the City View Stock farm owned by A. E. Schultz near the southwest limits of the city of Neenah Wednesday.

The farm auction is something of a holiday for farmers who sometimes take off an entire day to attend the sale and match their buying ability with their neighbors and other farmers for the things they may need.

Persuasive

The auctioneer is persuasive. He looks at a man asking him to boost a bid. The man shakes his head negatively. But this does not discourage the speaker. His loud voice booms over the crowd and soon the man who first refused to raise the bid is found to be adding to an even higher figure.

When the bidding is slow, the auctioneer may let an article go at a ridiculously low price, but when the bidding is lively machinery or stock often brings a fancy figure.

The staccato voice of the auctioneer beats on as the farmers crowd about the machinery, horse or cow on the block and inspect it. There is the smell of hamburger and raw onions in the air. The auctioneer knows that the crowd doesn't like to stand about on an empty stomach, and he brings his own lunch stand. Business at the stand also is brisk.

There is a lull after a sale is made, and time for visiting before the next article or animal is put on the auction block. The hum of

Governor Proclaims March 28 Dairy Day

In recognition of Wisconsin dairy farmers and the products they produce, March 28 has been designated Wisconsin Dairy day in a proclamation issued by Governor Julius P. Heil. The date was selected to coincide with the opening day of the sixty-eighth annual convention of the Wisconsin Dairymen's association at Menomonie, March 28 and 29.

voices strikes a contrast to the booming voice of the auctioneer.

The crowd likes to be comfortable, and persons may be seen sitting on platforms, roofs of sheds and on makeshift seats. Others, participating in the bidding, don't seem to mind mud and water puddles near the auction block. They are dressed in warm clothes and high boots or rubbers.

A team is sold for $302.50. A 10-year-old mare goes for $77.50. A horse collar nets $6. Large and small articles are put up and sold one after another. The auctioneer seems tireless. He speaks with the owner for a minute to get some information about the item on the auction block and then talks with enthusiasm about it, be it a heavy team or a worn hayrack.

His many auctions have given him countless contacts with the farmers, a number of whom he calls by their first names in trying to get them to raise a bid. He keeps the crowd in good humor. He jollies them along and they smile at his antics. His arms always are moving as he talks, his hands coming to gether convincingly as he strives for another dollar or two before crying "sold."

It is the hope of getting an article at a bargain that keeps the farmer attending auctions. And the owner is glad to get the buying crowd that otherwise would not be available were he to try his hand at selling without an auctioneer. If price is not high enough to suit him, he always can buy the item back by bidding a higher figure than that offered.

Articles, stuck away in a corner of a barn for years, forgotten until the auctioneer comes along, often find a ready sale. Farmers like everyone else in the world are always ready to buy—if they think it is a bargain.

London, co-champions of the Northwestern Wisconsin conference, will clash in the semifinals of the Menasha regional tournament at 8:30 tonight. New London squeezed out a 31 to 30 victory over Weyauwega in the final 20 seconds while Neenah had an easy time defeating Plainfield 41 to 26.In the consolation round, Men-asha rallied after trailing Kimberly through the first quarter and eliminated the Papermakers from the tournament, 25 to 14. Weyauwega and Plainfield will meet in a consolation round game at 7:30 tonight and at 8:30 DePere and Kimberly will clash for the right to enter the finals.Wega in ComebackA hot-shooting New London team ran up an early lead against Weyauwega only to be left gasping when Wega started a spurt of its own in the last quarter that tied the score at 30-all.K. Prentice was both the hero and the unfortunate victim for Wega.
His rebound shot tied the score at 30-all with 25 seconds left. Prentice and Ken Poppy then collided in a double foul. Prentice missed his shot attempt and Poppy dropped his shot neatly through the net for the winning point. There was time for a jump ball after that but Wega had shot its bolt.L. Grancoritz paced the Wega attack and played his heart out in the fourth period until he was practically out on his feet. He scored 15 points. Wega lost the game from the free throw line. It made 12 free shots but missed 10. New London on the other hand, made all five of its gift attempts.New London showed some extremely hot shooting in the early part of the game and coupled that display with a defense that kept Wega far out on the court. The Buildings held an 8 to 1 lead at the end of the first quarter. Hertz got the only point for Wega while Ross Meiklejohn, Poes, and Poppy counted baskets for New London.New London Leads 18-9New London increased its margin slightly but held time although Wega nearly managed to match the Building points from the free throw line.
H. Grancoritz caught the New London defense napping for the only Wega basket of the first half.
L. Grancoritz counted four free throws and Hertz and Prentice made each one to bring the Wega total to 9 at halftime. New London totaled 18 on two baskets by Ross, and single baskets by Hammerberg, Poes, and Poppy.The two teams matched points through the third quarter and when the final period opened New London held a 29 to 20 lead. Wega showed signs of the coming fourth quarter rush in the closing minutes of the third period. For Wega, L. Grancoritz counted two baskets and a free throw while Hertz counted two free throws and tapped in a rebound when H. Grancoritz missed a free throw. H. Grancoritz scored on a pass from L. Grancor-itz in the last minute of the quarter.For New London Poppy sank two field goals during the third period.
Ross added two free throws and Poes made a basket. Hammerberg sank the free throw that made the score 29 to 20 before he committed his fourth personal foul.
Hertz, who missed on six gift shots and made six during the game, missed on that one.New London was held to two free throws during the fourth quarter
but won the game on those points.
Hertz sank one of two gift shots and Poppy made a free throw to keep the margin the same with New London in front 30 to 21.L. Grancoritz Sets PaceWega started to whittle away at the lead with L. Grancoritz setting the pace. He counted on a neat shot from the corner. A moment later he took the ball under the New London backboard and dribbled the length of the floor for a basket. He missed a gift shot on a foul by Poes but the ball bounced back to him at the charity stripe and he saved it through the hoop for two points and Wega trailed 30 to 27 with over 3 minutes left.Most of the crowd was on its feet for the rest of the game. Poes committed his fourth personal with little over a minute left and Hertz missed the first but counted on the second gift shot to leave Wega one basket behind.New London attempted to stall but Wega broke through and poured several shots at the basket.

All Star Youngsters Grab Playoff Opener

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
OSHKOSH—The Oshkosh, All Stars turned back the Sheboygan Redskins 41 to 24 in the first of three game playoff to settle the championship of the western division of the National Basketball League here Thursday night. The two teams will meet tonight at Sheboygan and again on Saturday at Sheboygan if the Redskins win tonight's game.The Redskins were held scoreless during the entire first period and it wasn't until three minutes of the second quarter had elapsed that they got their first point on a free throw by Quabus. The Oshkoshteam piled up six points during the first period.Charley Shipp of the All Stars paced his team during the second period, dropping in four successive field goals which, with a basket by Berry brought the score at the half to 16 to 7 in favor of the Oshkosh team.Leroy "Lefty" Edwards, the Oshkosh high scoring center, lacked some of the spark that made him the league's leading scorer for he was recovering from an attack of the "flu." He racked up nine points, five of them on free throws, but was nosed out by one point by his teammate Shipp who was high point man for the night.The Redskins were led in the scoring column by Ken Suesens who accounted for six points for Coach Francis Zummach's team.
Denker, their lanky center was second for their team with five points.All Stars used a starting lineup which featured mostly fellows who are seeing their first years of service with the All Stars. He opened the game with Putnam Pederson, Berry, Shipp, and Stankey. The Sheboygan team relied upon the veteran players Adams, Suesens, Lautenschlager, Kolar, and Quabus, several of whom have played

Seymour Beaten By Two Rivers in Regional Jousts

Score Is 52-31*KEAUWEE—Seymour High school basketball team, winner of the Shiocton district tournament, found a team that could pour baskets into the hoop faster than it could and dropped a 52 to 31 decision here last night in regional play. The winner was Two Rivers' high powered outfit which is favored to take the regional title.Paced by Wondrash, a big center who regularly was free for setups and who had a good hook shot when in trouble, Two Rivers grabbed a 13 to 1 lead in the opening quarter.
Play was a trifle more even in the second quarter but Two Rivers still held a 24 to 9 advantage. The third quarter was Seymour's best for its counted 13 points to 7 for Two Rivers and the teams rested with the score at 31 to 22 for Two Rivers.
The lake shore team then ran riot in the final quarter and copped, 52 to 31.Seymour's greatest weakness was lack of a defense to stop the Two Rivers scorers. Throughout the season Seymour has won on its ability to get more baskets and has let the defense go. The tactics were fatal last night.Wondrash scored 25 points on ten field goals and five free throws to lead Two Rivers. Carvinski got four goals and a free throw for nine points for Seymour.Tonight Seymour indulges in con-

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

Sorensens 53, Valley Sports 40.

Lutz Ice 38, Taxis 26.

Sorensen Bakery and Lutz Ice company basketball teams tied for first place in the regular season of the City-Y.M.C.A. league which closed last night. Both won their final games, the Bakers defeating the Valley Sports, 53 to 40, and the Icemen stopping the Taxis, 38 to 26. In the other game, the Ponds defeated the Wire Works, 36 to 33. The first four finishers in the circuit will compete in a Shaughnessy playoff series.

The Baker-Valley game started fast and when the teams finished the first quarter tied at 10-all, it appeared the Bakers were in for a hard fight. In the second quarter, however, they pulled out and held a 25 to 14 advantage at the half. The third quarter saw them hold the lead with a 39 to 24 margin.

Werner Gets 18 Points
Werner led the Bakers with eight goals and two free throws for 18 points. Powers followed with six goals and two free throws for 14 points. For the Sports, Bauer scored seven goals for 14 points while D. Oelville and Kitchen each had 8 points.

Lutz Ice found the Town Taxis tough until the last half. The Icemen led 6 to 5 at the quarter and had only a 14 to 10 lead at the half. In the third quarter they pushed the advantage to 25 to 18 and then stepped again to 38 to 26 in the fourth quarter.

Werner showed 18 points for the Icemen while Krause had 11 and Kriek 9. For the Taxis, Glen Bowers had 12 points and Arnold 9.

Ponds earned a fourth place position in the standings and a shot at the playoffs with a 36 to 33 win over the Wires. The Ponds enjoyed a 9 to 4 lead at the quarter and looked good holding a 23 to 10 advantage at the half.

In the third quarter the lead was 32 to 17. Then the Ponds lost a couple men on fouls and finished the game with four players and a 3-point win.

Van Ryzin dumped seven goals for 14 points for the Wires while Besch had 11 points. Blick had seven for the Ponds.

Championship Clubs Aren't Ones Troubled by Holdouts

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball holdout situation today sought to wipe out that old but erroneous belief that championship clubs have the most trouble in signing their players.

With all clubs well into their training programs and the grapefruit league season getting underway, the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds are two big happy families getting ready to renew their leases on first place. But the also-rans in both the National and American leagues are honeycombed with holdouts.

The No. 1 dissenter at the moment, of course, is outfielder Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals. Ducky Wukky used to make $18,000 back in 1938, but took a $2,000 cut last season. Now he wants it back. Ducky stayed around the St. Petersburg, Fla., training base waiting for Owner Sam Breadon or General Manager Branch Rickey to appear.

When neither showed up, Medwick flew back to his St. Louis home to await (1) the birth of a second baby to his wife; (2) some signs of interest on the part of the management.

The Cardinals also have to cope with a holdout by Catcher Don Padgett. He was paid about $7,500 last year.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have one of the most humorous tiffs, as might be expected. At the close of the 1939 season President Larry MacPhail offered first baseman Dolph Camilli a $1,000 raise to $15,000 if he would sign immediately. Camilli postponed signing and now MacPhail says he will pay Dolph only the $14,000 he received last year.

Camilli has made all kinds of threats and counter proposals, but MacPhail won't budge.

The New York Giants aren't any closer to an agreement today with their first baseman, Zeke Bonura, than they were when the contracts were sent out. The Chicago Cubs are at long odds with their celebrated Dizzy Dean and the more useful Hank Lieber, while even the lowly Phillies haven't been able to sign the infielders Roy Hughes and Gus Suhr.

In the American league the Cleveland Indians are having the most troubles. Pitcher Johnny Allen, who got $8,000 last year for doing very little, was affronted by a cut to $6,000 and has stoutly refused any bonus agreement. Pitcher Willis Hudlin and Catcher Frank Pytkak are also dissident.

The Chicago White Sox can't lure pitcher Clint Brown into the fold and the St. Louis Browns are still dickering with Catcher Joe Glenn and the Philadelphia Athletics with Catcher Frank Hayes.

Prentice grabbed one of those rebounds and shoved it through the hoop to tie the score with 25 seconds left. Five seconds later Robert Kolf called the double foul, which was the first for Prentice and the fourth for Poppy.

The ball hit the rim and bounced out when Prentice tried his shot. Pops dropped his to win the game. Pops scored 10 points to lead New London while Ross added eight points. Hertz had eight for Wega. The Wega team was charged with only four fouls compared to 18 for New London.

NEENAH WINS EASILY
Plainfield, one of the district tournament winners assigned to the Menasha regional, took an early lead when Coach Ole Jorgenson started his Neenah reserves but lost a 41 to 26 decision. Plainfield was in front 7 to 6 at the quarter and 9 to 6 when the Neenah regulars went in.

It took the regulars the rest of the second quarter to catch up with Plainfield but Kuehl sank a basket in the last 10 seconds of the half to put Neenah in front 14 to 13. Plainfield had held a 13 to 8 lead but Christofferson got a basket, Hesselman made two free throws, and Kuehl put the Rockets ahead with his basket.

From that point Neenah increased its lead steadily even with some reserves playing through most of the fourth quarter. Buxton Ketterling scored the Rockets with five field goals while the high-scoring Harland Hesselman was second with nine points on three field goals and three free throws. Lamb collected the same number for Plainfield.

Winkelman got a basket and two free throws and B. Ketterling scored a field goal for the Rockets in the first quarter which saw Plainfield lead 7 to 6. In the second quarter Hesselman got a basket and two free throws and Christofferson and Kuehl counted from the field.

The Rockets made their margin decisive in the third quarter during which they scored 17 points to five for Plainfield to lead 31 to 18. During the period Buxton Ketterling made three field goals, Hesselman and Herzfeldt made two each and Hoyman counted a basket and a free throw.

Rocket reserves outscored Plainfield 10 to 8 in the final period. Hesselman scored a free throw and B. Ketterling counted on his fifth basket before the regulars left the game. Hulse scored a field goal and a free throw, Herzfeldt counted from the field, and Winkelman scored a basket. Accuracy from the free throw line helped Plainfield increase its total. The district winners made only seven of 18 gift attempts.

Jays Oust Kimberly
Menasha entered the consolation finals by defeating Kimberly 25 to 14. Kimberly held the lead through the first quarter but Menasha went in front at the start of the second quarter. Kimberly tied the score at 7-all but from that point the Bluejays pulled away.

Williams put Kimberly in front by sinking two free shots. Anderson made one of three gift attempts for the Bluejays and C. Gaffney scored for Kimberly on a fast break. Richard Landkron scored for Menasha on a short shot and Williams ended the scoring for the quarter with a free throw to give Kimberly a 5 to 3 edge.

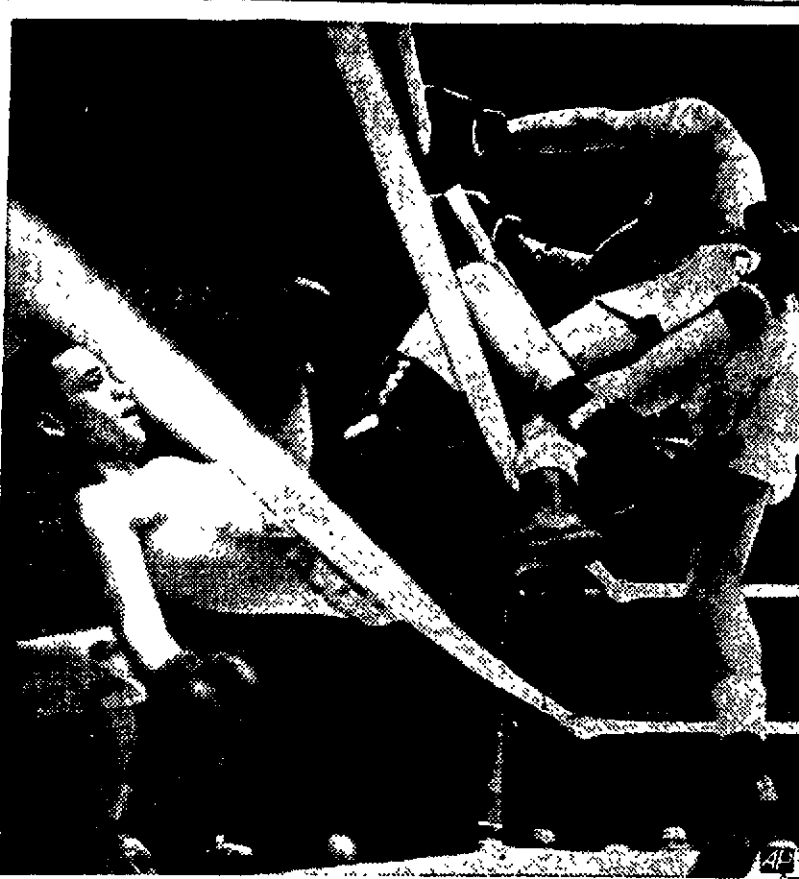

Merkley tied the score for the Bluejays with a lone one-handed push shot and Richard Landkron feinted his guard out of position and drove in for a short shot to give Menasha the edge. F. VanCuyk gave Kimberly a tie at 7-all on a shot from the side. Block scored on a rebound and Merkley dropped a set shot through the net to give Menasha an 11 to 7 lead at the half.

The Bluejays used their rushing defense at the start of the second half and kept the Papermakers confused. The Jays stretched their lead to 15 to 7 on baskets by Anderson and Merkley. The Menasha defense lapsed momentarily and Smith sank a free throw and C. Gaffney dropped a set shot through the net to close the margin to 15 to 10.

Menasha Takes Control
The Jays took control once more and increased their lead to 20 to 10 at the end of the third period by scoring five free throws. Fred Landkron made two out of three attempts and Block sank three out of three.

The two teams played on nearly even terms through the fourth quarter. Block scored a free throw and a field goal to take scoring honors for the Jays with eight points. Anderson also counted a baskets for the Jays in the fourth quarter. For Kimberly Wynyard dribbled in for a basket and C. Gaffney counted on a short shot.

THROUGH THE ROPES FOR JIMMY

Boxer's legs were all tangled up as Jimmy Blake, 118-pounder from Fort Wayne, Ind., went through the ropes during his Golden Gloves bout with Dick Menchaca, of Fort Worth, Tex., in Chicago. Menchaca, only 17 years old, won the title in his division. Note program raised (left) as a buffer.

Hesselman, Meiklejohn, Alger Named to Posts on N.E.W. All Star Quintet

N.E.W. ALL-CONFERENCE TEAMS

WESTERN DIVISION FIRST TEAM

Bill Alger, Kaukauna, forward.
Jack Anderson, Shawano, forward.
Harland Hesselman, Neenah, center.
Billy Reed, Shawano, guard.
Gordon Meiklejohn, New London, guard.

SECOND TEAM

R. Ketterling, Neenah, forward.
Ross, New London, forward.
Hammerberg, New London, center.
Giordana, Kaukauna, guard.
Pues, New London, guard.

HONORABLE MENTION

Forwards—Wippl, Menasha; Block, Kaukauna; Bisek, Kaukauna; Skeneard, West De Pere; Jim Anderson, Shawano.

Guards—Van Sistine, West De Pere; Zenske, Clintonville; Poppy, New London; Miller, Neenah; Swedberg, Kaukauna; Rosenow, Shawano; Gus Block, Menasha.

SHAWANO, Neenah and New London—each of which owns a third of the 1939-40 crown—predominate the mythical all-star basketball teams of the Western division, Northeastern Wisconsin High school conference.

Seven coaches and seven sports writers cooperated with the Green Bay Press-Gazette in the poll, each naming a first and a second team. A vote for a first team berth meant two points, and a second team choice gave the player one point.

Billy Reed, the Shawano ace, was the unanimous selection for a first team guard position. Harland Hesselman, Neenah's brightest flash, fell one point short of a sweep in getting the center spot. Just four points short of the possible 28 was Bill Alger, Kaukauna, a first team forward.

Twenty players in all were cited. The 10 who did not make either the first or the second team were accorded honorable mention. In several instances a position could not be determined until the last ballot was submitted.

No Doubt Here
Apparently the mentors and scribes who did the voting spent little time deciding what to do about Billy Reed. He was the division's leading scorer by a wide margin, having 72 field goals and 35 free throws for a grand total of 179 points.

Reed's 179 points established a new Western division record. It served to break the previous record of 157 points, which Reed himself set last year. Two years ago, as a freshman, he was high scorer with 104. Since he still has one more year to play with Shawano, enemy camps will have to devise new strategy if they rent to continue their headaches another season.

While telling the story of Billy Reed it must be mentioned that the thrill of placing on the first team may not be as keen as it might under different circumstances. It's really old stuff to him, since he also received the 28 points from voting coaches and sports writers last year.

He's Easy Choice
Hesselman, too, was an easy choice for the voters. He was runner-up in the division scoring for the season, collecting 57 buckets and 50 gift shots for a total of 164. His ability at the free throw line, by the way, was by far the best for the circuit. Reed's 35 being second high. The 50 free throws resulted in a new all-time record for the Western division.

One of the voters saw fit to leave Kaukauna's Bill Alger off giving him scoring honors for the Papermakers with six points.

College Boxing Will Try New Injury Rule
State College, Pa. (AP)—College boxing's latest move to divorce itself from professional practices of the sport—a rule which permits awarding a decision to an injured boxer—gets its first tournament test here this weekend in the nation's oldest collegiate ring championships.

Officials at the 17th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing association tournament opening tonight will observe the new college rule that if a contestant is cut sufficiently to necessitate halting the bout, the referee and judges "shall award the bout to the contestant who is ahead on points at the time of the accident" instead of to the uninjured boxer on a technical knockout.

Perrine, A. Joicks and V. E. Grunest each had games of 212 and P. Hornke tumbled a 579 series to split individual honors during Women's City league matches at Arcade alleys last evening.

Top team totals were turned in by Maritime Tavern with a 909 game and Metropolitan Cafe with a 2,546 series.

Cary Oil Burners gained a tie for the league lead with a 3-game win over Bohl and Maeser. M. Towner led the winners with a 527 game, D. Wentworth registering two games of 184. High for the losers was M. Plaman with a 196 game and 502 series.

Miller High Life won two games from Oaks Candies but lost a lone hold on first place. L. Klebenow poked a 188 game and 538 series for the High Life while L. Zitelman totaled 470 and R. Ritten counted 170 for the losers.

Heckert Shoes won the odd game from Becher Grocers as A. Joicks collected a 516 series with her 212 game and V. Luckie hit 204. Top for the losers was V. Becher with a 199 game and 539 series.

Metros Win Two
Metropolitan Cafe downed Johnson Shoe Builders in two games as E. Perrine rattled 212 and 539. A. Breitenbach hitting 202. M. J. Butler mainstay the losers with a 205 game and 523 series.

Riverside Papers took two games from Belling's Drugs as V. Grunest topped her 212 game and A. Armstrong totaled 521 with a 204 game. L. Cotton called 164 and B. Koltsch tripled 512 to top the losers.

Maritime Tavern scored a 2-game win over Myse Meats as L. Jense tripled 512 and L. Lueders singled 190. High for the losers were M. Knapstein with a 190 game and A. Knietzer with a 469 total.

Power Company picked up two games from International Trucks as Pearl Hornke whipped games of 204 and 209 for her 579 series. D. Stark showed 483 and R. Reidhauser tumbled 183 for the losers.

PERFECTLY CONDITIONED
Bloomington, Ind. (AP)—There have been several reasons advanced for the superiority of the Oklahoma A. and M. wrestling team. Coach Billy Thom of Indiana University, a recent victim of the Aggies, adds another. "The Aggies are the best conditioned wrestling team I ever saw."

Kaukauna girls attended the games Thursday night but were worried about an exam so they brought their books along to study.

Some of the Weyauwega fans were disgruntled with the showing their team made in the first half and left the gymnasium. They missed a thrilling second half rally which nearly won the game.

The outstanding "floor" game of the tournament probably was played by Charles Spees, Plainfield forward, Thursday night. At least he had spent plenty of time on the floor but he certainly was trying. The entire Plainfield team tried hard but simply ran into a stronger and bigger team in Neenah.

Tournament officials are A. C. Denney, Lawrence college coach, referee; Robert Kolf, Oshkosh State Teachers college coach, umpire; William Pickett, Appleton, official scorer, and Ray Montith, Appleton, official timer.

Red and white is the favorite team color with six squads wearing various shades of red. The blue and white of Menasha and orange and black of Kaukauna are the only exceptions.

The tournament this year has been a more colorful spectacle than last year. Bands and cheer leaders add to the excitement while Thursday night there were plenty of cow bells and other noise makers.

Kimberly was supported by its school band Wednesday night and by three cheer leaders who entertained the crowd. They were Betty Wisman, Marion Anderson and Teresa Vermeiren. The latter did the front and backward cartwheels. New London had its band Thursday night while Weyauwega had a band that was small in number but loud. They made up for the lack of numbers with a half dozen cheer leaders.

The tournament apparently is vying with tests for first place in the interest of students. A group of

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER
JUGGERNAUT
On the coast of the Bay of Bengal is one of India's holy cities. It is known as Puri, or Juggernaut, and is the home of about 40,000 people. Many of the residents have room for rent. They are ready to take care of pilgrims who come in great numbers, sometimes from 75,000 to 10,000 in a year.

The Juggernaut car at Puri. The pilgrims honor one of the Hindu gods, Vishnu. In the city of Puri, they worship him under the special name of Juggernaut. This name means "Lord of the World." The visitor will find a great space covered by 120 temple buildings. The building set aside for the Juggernaut has a tower 192 feet high. The Juggernaut is a wooden image of Vishnu in his special form. The black face has an open, blood-red mouth, and the eyes are jewels. The god is placed on a throne from time to time. There is an image of his brother on one side of him, and of his sister on the other side. Priests take good care of the Juggernaut. They give him a bath from time to time, and even put him to bed! The Juggernaut's greatest days have been those of festival. On such a day the image is taken from the temple and is placed in a car of mighty size. The car is 45 feet high. It has solid, clumsy-looking wheels, each about seven feet in diameter. Not quite a mile from Puri is a place known as the god's country house. The Juggernaut is taken to this house aboard the car. The route lies over a sandy roadway, which at best does not offer easy passage for a cart or carriage. Think of what a task it is to pull the Juggernaut car over loose sand. The car is drawn by people, not by oxen. Scores of pilgrims seize ropes and slowly haul the Juggernaut toward the country house. Often the journey takes two or three days. The car may pick up speed while going down a short slope. In such an event, pilgrims in the way may be crushed to death. In past times stories were spread about Hindus throwing themselves under the wheels of the Juggernaut car. These stories seem to have been started by the accidents which happened to pilgrims near the car. (For Travel section of your scrap-book.) U.S. Has Choice of Free Enterprise, State Capitalism

Babson Points to Paradox Of 8 Million Jobless, 16 Billion Idle Dollars

Babson

By ROGER BABSON
St. Petersburg, Fla.—Eight million idle workers and sixteen billion idle dollars is 1940's strange paradox. It's the result of a ten-year battle between those who want government control of all credit (state capitalism) and those who want a free hand for private employers and capital. Captains of industry can afford to fight. So can the princes of politics. But you and I and our unemployed neighbors can't. We have reached the crossroads and we must choose either "the high road" or the "low road."

Eight million unemployed must be put back to work. Under state capitalism they could have army or other compulsory jobs within several years. Under free enterprise they could have voluntary jobs in a similar length of time. But under today's half-way system the best hope is that only a million or two will be absorbed in public or private hands within the next few years. Meanwhile, sixteen billion dollars, greatest hoard of cash ever assembled, strains the nation's bank vaults. This fund could create twice the amount of credit necessary to finance new industry to give every unemployed worker a job!

It is estimated that $6,000 is the minimum investment in building, machinery, etc. needed to provide each new job in industry. Multiply it out yourself: 8,000,000 industrial workers out of jobs, times $6,000 equals $48,000,000,000. We have the necessary credit and the public needs more goods. But private employers dare not risk their money in new enterprises. They fear the government, its investigations, tax bills, and the like. And the government can't force employers to use their money and credit against their will.

The government's game, according to many people, is to force all capital into government bonds. Keep the money out of the hands of the government. We have the necessary credit and the public needs more goods. But private employers dare not risk their money in new enterprises. They fear the government, its investigations, tax bills, and the like. And the government can't force employers to use their money and credit against their will.

Issue Biggest Since 1860
The issue of state capitalism versus free enterprise has never been put squarely before the people. The American public simply voted for a change of administration in 1932—not for state capitalism. After four years of recovery, they voted for more recovery in 1936—not for state capitalism. Even this fall, I doubt if the public will realize what the real issue is. The Washington crisis has been as clever as the schemes to can power as were the Wall Street tycoons of the twenties. Take the recent insurance investigation, for instance. Most people believe that this probe is a good thing. I approve of it if its motive is to give the country information on a business in which there are 63,000,000 policyholders.

But many people are not sure that the motive is so simple and straightforward as that. Some believe the idea is to frighten the insurance executives so that they will invest more of their funds in government bonds, even though that could be very bad for policyholders. These people cite the banks as proof of their point. Their contention is that banks now are virtually forced to invest only in "governments," that other investments are too often frowned on by bank examiners. Can it be that the plan is to force insurance companies to buy only "governments" instead of making investments in private industry?

Critics also throw brickbats at other government agencies. They say S.E.C. is trying to discourage private financing and to put the government in a position where it can go to the public and say: "Private capital refuses to finance new enterprises and new industries, will not provide new jobs. Hence, we must!" These critics use, as a case in point, the recent instance where S.E.C. refused to approve a bond issue of a utility which was to finance expansion and provide new jobs. They recall that the administration has been very willing to issue bonds to finance government-owned power projects. Employers are especially upset because they believe the people do not know what is going on behind the scenes. They think that the whole scheme is cleverly devised to maintain control of the nation's credit system. Regardless of whether there is any such plan or not, the effect is the same: Private money is idle, so are millions of workers. These workers will not get jobs until either the government or private enterprise uses this money. I hope it will be used in private enterprise. The latter is far more efficient, has more drive, more brains. There are plenty of white elephants on the record of free enterprise, but none so condemning as recent government projects. The point I want to make today, however, is that it is time to bring the issue out in the open. Let us stop the "slow-death" process. Let us stop using 8,000,000 unemployed pawns in this struggle about which they know nothing. Let us

Psst! Want to Save Money on Your Income Tax? Here's How You Can Do It—Legally

BY PAUL ROSS
AP Feature Writer

Psst! Want to save money on your income tax?

You'd be surprised what a few hours of jogging your memory and brushing up on arithmetic will do for you. And legitimately, too. This all comes, every bit of it, from a source close to the United States government.

Remember the time you bought a pair of tickets for that boxing match? And the time you surprised the wife and, instead of taking her down to the corner movie where the admission is only 25 cents, you bought orchestra seats for that Shakespeare play? If you'll just figure out all the admissions of more than 40 cents you paid, you can deduct 10 per cent of them from your income.

Uncle Sam gives us suckers an even break on donations. If you shelled out for charitable, religious and educational institutions last year, Uncle Sam won't laugh in your face if you deduct as much as 15 per cent of your net income. The only thing is you have to have proof you gave all this money if the tax collector should ask for it, and the object of your kindness has to be organized under the state law.

You needn't pay a tax on taxes—some kinds of taxes, that is. For instance, you can deduct the tax on club dues, safe deposit boxes, telephone calls, cablegrams. And you can deduct your state income tax, if any, and sales taxes. And if you are an employer, you can deduct the social security taxes you pay on your employees—but if you are an employee, nothing doing. Here's another but: If you smoke a lot and drink a lot, you've paid a lot of federal excise taxes on tobacco and alcoholic beverages—which doesn't make any difference at all in the amount of income you owe.

To get back to the brighter side of things, you can deduct whatever you paid for a dog license . . . and for a driver's license . . . and auto plate . . . and for state taxes on gasoline. If you play caddy, there are a lot of other things you can deduct. Stuff like this—real estate taxes (provided they aren't such things as water taxes or property-improvement assessments), customs duties, union dues and assessments, interest paid on that personal loan you made and your gambling losses up to the amount you won (if you were taken by the books for $1,000 and nicked them back for $100, you can deduct only $100).

And that isn't all! If you suffered a property loss through fire, theft, storm or other casualties and it can't be shown you were negligent, you can deduct the full original purchase price (less salvage value) or the full cost of repairs. What's more, if you're smart, you'll deduct the full amount of the expense you or family and necessarily incur as part of your work (such as maintaining a car. There's a rub in this, however, because you can't deduct carfare to the office).

You can deduct bad debts, too, but you have to furnish proof of indebtedness, proof of a date on which the debt became bad, and proof you tried to collect.

Real Estate Allowance
And listen! Don't forget property depreciation—if you have any property. It's figured in accordance with a set of standards fixing the rate of depreciation. BUT, if you live in the building yourself, no dice. Of course, the drawback is this—that it's all a matter of percentage. When you make a $10 deduction, for example, it doesn't mean that you pay $10 less in taxes. Oh, no! It merely means that you have deducted $10 from the amount of taxable net income. At 4 per cent, your $10 deduction will enable you to pay just 40 cents less to Uncle Sam.

Experiment With New Methods for Packaging Cheese

Hope to Perfect Rubber, Transparent, Inexpensive Wrapping

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Negotiations with a leading private manufacturer for the development and patenting of a new, improved method of packaging natural cheese which may have a revolutionary effect on Wisconsin's leading industry are being carried on by the state department of agriculture and markets, it was learned here today.

The state department, which has directed its attention for many months toward the problem of merchandising natural cheese in modern form, is dealing with the manufacturer in the perfection of a rubber, transparent, and inexpensive wrapping which may be put on the market under the control of the state department, it was revealed. If details of production processes and patenting can be completed within the next month, the new package may be put on the market in a selected area in Wisconsin on an experimental basis late this year, it was reported.

Officials of the state department of agriculture for several years have sponsored research on cheese packaging, considered to be the heart of any merchandising program which can be advanced for Wisconsin's premier agricultural product.

Official state policy under the present administration of the department has been to promote natural cheese sales by such methods as intensive publicity through the means of the $75,000 annual legislative appropriation, including such stunts as the Christmas cheese sales campaign which broke all records in 1939.

Results of the advertising and promotion campaigns convinced state agricultural authorities that an immense market for the product exists, but that modern merchandising developments must be employed in order to realize them. Key part of modern merchandising campaigns, according to Ralph E. Ammon, department director, is convenient and attractive packaging.

Because natural cheese producers had failed to keep pace with modern sales methods, he pointed out, natural cheese markets were lost to the processors. Early last year the department set aside a part of its dairy promotion appropriation to conduct research on the packaging problem, studies which led to cooperation with the manufacturer and the new product just developed.

By the arrangements which probably will be completed between the state and the manufacturer, the product will be marketed experimentally in retail outlets in a specific Wisconsin area soon, through the cooperation of several natural cheese producers, or probably a cooperative.

If the rubber film package holds up satisfactorily in such experiments—it is designed to release moisture from the cheese, but to exclude air from the outside—it will be offered to the Wisconsin cheese industry under the control of the state department. It is expected that the manufacturer will contract to make it available only to such producers in Wisconsin and elsewhere who meet standards prescribed by the state department. Thus, if the product is successful, it is expected to be an instrument by which the state can hasten its quality improvement program for Wisconsin dairymen.

Plans of the state department call for an eventual packaging system through which the state will furnish standard package forms to enable the housewife to buy natural cheese in her corner grocery store in the same way as processed varieties are now sold. It has been suggested that various colors may be prescribed for the packages of young, medium, and aged cheeses, or cheeses of various moisture content.

State officials familiar with the new package experiment hail it as one of the most important developments in the campaign to widen Wisconsin agricultural markets by modernizing sales methods and improving quality. Definite and official announcements are expected to be made within the next month, it was said.

Dewey's Farm Aid Proposals Differ Little From New Deal's

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Necessarily all presidential candidates must discuss the farm problem, although they all knew that in a free economy such as ours not much can be done about it. At least not much that isn't already being done.

Thomas E. Dewey went out from New York to make his farm speech at Lincoln, Neb. He has been studying the agricultural problem for a year. He comes out about where the Roosevelt administration has. He recognizes that there is no single scheme that will solve the farm problem overnight. His ultimate remedy is the only ultimate remedy—full recovery domestically and in foreign markets. One cannot say anything else to the farmers and be frank with them.

American farmers are free to raise what they wish and as much as they can, and the abundant land of this country produces more than we consume or can sell abroad. Unless our purposes go into authorized practices, there isn't much that can be done about that except to tinker with special aspects of the problem, subsidize the farmers, and administer painstaking hypodermics while waiting for general economic conditions at home and abroad to provide expanded markets.

Mr. Dewey believes that full recovery and full employment will solve the surplus problem and his ultimate solution is to bring that about by policies at Washington more friendly to business. I suspect that anybody who offers more is either kidding the farmers or thinking of compulsory methods which our people are not disposed to accept.

Until recovery solves the farm problem, Mr. Dewey would continue applying mustard plasters of about the same kind that this administration has used. In that too he is frank, for while he is conveniently vague in some respects, he knows that Washington cannot abandon much of the present farm program, no matter who becomes president. Senator Taft has come around to about the same position after his recent unhappy experience at Des Moines, where he provoked a roar of protest because he condemned the administration's corn loans.

He's More Realistic Than Most Politicians

Mr. Dewey, after taking earnest counsel with himself and numerous advisers, comes to these conclusions: Fair parity must be established between agricultural and industrial prices. Farm prices must go up and industrial prices must go down. Government policies to encourage expansion of industry constitute the first step. Meanwhile "government must give aid in a voluntary program sponsored by agriculture itself for elimination of temporary excess surpluses."

Government crop loans at reasonable levels must be provided. Perhaps he thinks present crop loans are at unreasonable levels but he does not specify.

A direct program of soil conservation is needed. Roosevelt conservation is needed. He seeks to induce farmers not to overwork their land. Mr. Dewey proposes continuing use of government funds to encourage soil conservation.

Submarginal land should be converted to more economic uses. He would turn the land of half a million farms to better use. The Roosevelt administration has moved warily in this, fearing to be accused of regimentation.

Marketing agreements should be continued and extended. Mr. Dewey wants more of the Roosevelt program in this respect.

The farm co-operative movement should be extended. Again he wants more of a good thing.

The American market for agriculture should be preserved. Without mentioning the reciprocal trade program, Mr. Dewey says "we cannot sell abroad unless we also buy."

Lenten Thought For Today

Friday, March 8. The same blizzards and all men come to Him. (Everybody goeth to him—Moffatt.) Read John 3:22-26.

There is a deal of human nature in this passage. It is the old story of one man losing following, another man gaining it, and go-between trouble makers. The two here concerned were religious leaders, but they might have been—or be—taking the words right out of Cordeau's mouth. Perhaps he means that his men could draft better trade treaties than Mr. Hull's men, and you can't begrudge him the right to think so.

Research for industrial uses of farm products should be broadened. New Government laboratories are now being established around the country.

Mr. Dewey seems to be saying that the administration is doing about all that he can suggest, but is not doing it very well. He is more realistic than most politicians are willing to be in their campaign speeches.

one doctor losing practice and another winning it; one merchant losing trade and another prospering; one political leader losing his following, another taking the headlines, or one's own searching consciousness that the future belongs to another generation and to other causes than his. Life is always like that.

Popularity—little or big—is a foundation of sand upon which to build the house of life. The wisdom of knowing that we must face ebbing tides of recognition, influence and even usefulness is part of the steadfast wisdom of life. Then at least we escape jealousies and inner bitterness and meet the altered estates of life already victors over time and change.

Prayer: Lord of the Changing Years and Changing Circumstances, we thank Thee that Thou dost measure out the course of our lives in love and wisdom. We bless Thee for our successes and happinesses, for the friends we have won and the work we have had to do. Give us grace to accept any altered estate we are brought to face without bitterness or complaint, deliver us from envy and maintain us in peace. In His Name. Amen.
